HOW THE $10,000 RANSOM WAS PAID

Lad Kidnaped from Sharon, Pa., Thursday, is Restored to His Parents.

Cleveland, O., March 23.—"Billy" Whitla, the kidnaped boy and James P. Whitla, the boys' father, left Cleveland today for Sharon, Pa. Hundreds clogged the corridors of the Hollenden hotel in anticipation of catching a glimpse of the lad whose whereabouts had become a puzzle to the detectives of the land.

"Gee! papa," said the youngster, as he was being helped into a taxicab, "I hope mamma is on the front porch waiting for us."

"She will be there," was the simple answer from the father as he clasped the hand of his boy.

The speed of a Cleveland taxicab did not deter hundreds from following to the Erie station where Whitla senior and junior, boarded the train for Sharon. The father appeared to be the happiest man in northern Ohio, and "Billy" professed to believe that a "real choo-choo was more better than one of them street engines."

James P. Whitla was not inclined to discuss the matter of ransom or the plans of the family in dealing with the kidnapers.

How Ransom Was Paid.

"I am so glad to have the boy in my arms," said the father, half smiling and half crying, "that I have given no thought to the kidnapers. That will be up to the police and as I live and breathe, I am not worroying over their movements."

"The $10,000 ransom of "Billy" Whitla was paid to his kidnapers in a little grocery store at East 55rd street and Standard avenue, an hour after noon Monday. The money was received by an ordinarly dressed workingman, who gave his name as Hayes. He picked up the package filled with yellow back bills, smiled nonchalantly and left. Mrs. Bernard Hendrickson, temporary in charge of the store for her mother, Mrs. Margaret Uhle, forgot to notice which way the man went, and at the door of the little grocery is the last trace the police have of him.

The Hayes man stepped into the store at noon and asked if a package had been left there for him. Mrs. Hendrickson, without noting his appearance, told him there had not been. An hour later a prosperous looking man who said his name was Williams, came in with a small package in his pocket.

Mrs. Hendrickson Talks.

"He said he wanted to leave it for a man named Hayes," said Mrs. Hendrickson today. "He asked if Hayes had been here and I said he had. Williams left the package and not two minutes later Hayes came in and asked 'Is my package here?'

"I told him that it was, and he smiled. Without another word he took it from where it lay exposed on

ROOSEVELT OFF AMID CHEERING

THOUSANDS GIVE NOISY FAREWELL

Start is Made in Buoyant Spirits and in Excellent Spirit.

New York, March 23.—Standing on the bridge of the steamship Hamburg and acknowledging the enthusiastic cheering of thousands of people who had assembled to bid him good bye, Theodore Roosevelt sailed for Africa today. He was smiling happily and showed unmistakably his pleasure at the warmth of the demonstration accorded him. Beside him on the bridge stood his son, Kermit, and Captain Burmeister, commander of the vessel. The big ship left her pier at six minutes past 11 o'clock and she slowly made her way out into the channel amid cheers that drowned the music of the bands which were playing "The Star Spangled Banner." The distinguished traveler was still on the bridge watching the scene as the vessel was warped out into the stream and headed down the bay on the start on her journey.

The cheering continued as long as the ship was in hearing distance.

One of Mr. Roosevelt's last acts before the vessel sailed was to send a message to President Taft, reading:

"Parting thanks, love and sincerity."

President Taft's good bye gift to his predecessor was a gold pencil inscribed with the words:

"Good bye and good luck."

The crowds on the pier and the steamer were so great that the ex-president was severely jostled several times, but he was not hurt and smiled through it all.

Greeted Newspaper Men.

Mr. Roosevelt gave a short talk to the newspaper men on board the Hamburg. He greeted them at the doorway of his suite.

"Now, gentlemen, I am glad to see you," he said, "what can I tell you? Oh yes! There is that picture (pointing to a portrait of Mr. Taft.) It is very interesting and very fine, don't you think so?

"Oh, gentlemen, there is one thing that I desire very much to have you say for me. There is an immense mass of mail on board this steamship which has come to me and which I have not been able to open and much of which I will not be able to open for some time. I have no stenographer with me. Since I left the white house I have received about five or six thousand letters. Four fifths of these I have not even seen. My thanks to the people who sent them is, however, none the less. Now I wish that you would say for me that it will be only a waste of time for any one to write to me while I am in Africa. Again, I will say that I deeply appreciate the courtesy of those who have written me and take this occasion to give them my thanks."

WILLIE WHITLA

JAMES T. WHITLA, FATHER OF BOY.

WHITLA'S HOME.

WILLIE WHITLA IS WELCOMED AT SHARON

Town Turns Out to Greet Ransomed Boy Now at Home Again.

Sharon, Pa., March 23.—Willie Whitla, the ransomed boy, after an experience of five days with kidnapers, was returned to his mother's arms a few minutes after 12 o'clock today. The reunion took place around the family hearthstone in the Whitla home and no prying eyes were permitted to witness the greeting of mother and son, only the immediate relations of the family being present at the joyous home-coming of the lad.

Accorded an ovation by the people of Sharon that could not have been heartier, the little fellow and his father arrived here at 2:06 this afternoon, after an absence of 125 hours. Fully five thousand persons extended the lad a demonstration. Pushing their way through the dense crowd surrounding the railroad station, Mr. Whitla, Willie, his uncle and a detective boarded a cab and were quickly driven in the direction of the Whitla home. Cheering and singing, the great gathering of enthusiastic neighbors and citizens followed the cab through the streets. Business was practically at a standstill, public schools were dismissed and jollification that will last until late tonight was given full sway.

Shout and Dance With Joy.

Within a short time the party arrived at the Whitla residence, where a second large crowd, which had congregated throughout the morning, was in evidence. As the cab and cheering throng were sighted those surrounding the Whitla home shouted and danced with joy. When the boy and his father attempted to alight from the cab they were in the midst of a remarkable demonstration. Tears were in many eyes and all Sharon seemed mad with joy.

With difficulty, the father, boy and others of the party succeeded in extricating themselves from the crowd and went into the house. Here the mother, who had been patiently waiting with happy anticipation since last night to see her boy, frantically clasped her child to her breast and for several minutes they clung to each other and sobbed.

"My boy, my dear, dear boy, you are back in mother's arms."

The mother showered him with kisses and seemed reluctant to leave him from her arms to answer the calls of the multitude gathered in front of the house.

Demonstration is Renewed.

After being in the house five minutes Mr. and Mrs. Whitla with Billy, his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Buhl and his grand parents, came out to the front porch. The crowd cheered. For a moment it seemed as if some of the people would be crushed. They were restrained by the detectives, however, and consented to keep still while the family posed for a photograph. As soon as this was over, the demonstration broke forth again. Willie climbed to the railing surrounding the porch, and apparently paying no attention to the great crowd, yelled to several schoo lcompanions whom he saw in the street.

Interurban Lineman Sustains Shock That May Prove Fatal to Him.

[Special to The Sentinel.]

Garrett, Ind., March 23.—Thomas McGuire, a lineman in the employ of the Toledo and Chicago Interurban Railway company and generally known as "Dutch," received a shock at stop No. 70 this morning while adjusting a guy wire and the injuries will probably prove fatal although he was still alive when he reached his home a short distance west of this place.

He was standing in a pool of water adjusting a guy wire at the time of the accident and it came in contact with the high tension feed wire and communicated o voltage of 3,300 which passed throughw his body. He wsa unconscious when the other workmen reached him and had not revived when he reached home. The injured man is twenty-seven years old and unmarried.

STILL GET NO WORD FROM MISSING AERONAUTS

Belief is That Six Men in Baloon "America" Have Perished.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 23.—More than seventy hours have elapsed since the balloon "America" with six men in the basket sailed into the fog and clouds of the storm-swept Sierra Madre mountains and no word has come back as to their fate. Hope that they may have reached a safe landing and succeeded in gaining shelter from the elements is fast merging into the conviction that they have met death in one of the worst of the mountain tragedies.

Nothing has been heard of the two searching parties sent out by the Elk's lodge yesterday, which struck into the mountains above Pasadena. Two more parties went out this morning, one of twenty men from Pasadena headed by experienced mountaineers, and a second one of thirteen from Sierra Madra, led by Chief Forest Ranger George Crow, of the latter place. Both parties proceeded on foot and were equipped with axes to cut their way across the mountains where no trails exist.

WOULD OUST NEGROES.

Jackson, Miss., March 23.—Several towns of the state movements are being quietly organized, it is said, to get rid of the negro postmasters now in office at the close of their present terms. Advices from Ocean Spring, Bay St. Louis, and Edwards, state that citizens at those places will ask the Washington authorities for white postmasters

VOTING ON SALOON IN 3 INDIANA COUNTIES

"Drys" are Claiming Montgomery, Benton and Greene Today.

Indianapolis, March 23.—County local option elections are in progress in Montgomery, Benton and Greene counties today. The hardest fight between the temperance forces and the saloons is in Montgomery county. Here church bells were rung and factory whistles blown at 6 o'clock today by the "drys" as a signal that the polls were open. In many of the churches sun-rise prayer meetings were held.

In Benton county the women served coffee and sandwiches at the polls and at Bloomfield. In Greene county the women provided and drove carriages, taking voters to the polls. Anvils were fired and bells tolled at 6 o'clock calling the voters to the polls. The drys are claiming victory in the three counties. Fifty-five saloons will be affected.

TO FIGHT "BLIND TIGERS."

State Convention to Be Called for This Purpose.

Indianapolis, March 23.—E. S. Shumaker, superintendent of the Indiana Anti-Saloon league, is preparing to call a state convention of temperance workers to formulate an organization to fight the "blind tigers" in the counties which have voted under the county option law to oust the saloons. No date has been selected for the convention and according to Mr. Shumaker, it will probably not be called until the work of holding elections is well out of the way.

Mr. Shumaker believes the organization will be easy to form and that it will be practical, since the people of the counties voting "dry" feel, he says, that the saloons have been ousted by the people themselves, and that it is up to the people to see that "blind tigers" do not take their places.

LIVES IN FORT WAYNE.

Man Arrested for Passing Bad Check Not Known Here.

Memphis, Tenn., March 23.—C. R. Regensberg, of Fort Wayne, Ind., believde to be traveling under the alias of Lee Harris, is detained at police headquarters, with P. E. Gross, Cincinnati, both charged with passing worthless checks here. Numerous signed checks were found on the men, who are believed to have been operating extensively in Arkansas, a majority of the checks being drawn on the North National bank, of Fort Smith.

The name of Regensberg is not in the city directory and the police know nothing of the case.

CANADIAN HOTEL BURNS.

Cornwall, Ont., March 23.—The Windsor hotel was destroyed by fire early today. One man was burned to death, three are missing and twenty were badly injured.

FALL OF M'FAIL CAUSES A SHOCK

Young Man Mas Highly Regarded at Richmond—Indiana News.

Petersburg, Ind., March 23.—The Queen Oil company drilling on William Lamb's farm two miles west of here at a depth of 1,160 feet struck gas of such a pressure that large pieces of stone were thrown from the derrick and all work had to be stopped and attempts are now being made to cap the well.

The pressure exceeds four hundred pounds to the square inch and the volume is estimated at five million cubic feet. The well is located six and a half miles west of the famous Jumbo gas well which was the biggest well in the state.

SURPRISE AT RICHMOND.

Downfall of Harry McFail Gives City Profound Shock.

Richmond, Ind., March 23.—The downfall of Harry McFail, who was arrested at Lafayette on a charge of cashing fraudulent express orders, caused much surprise in Richmond, the home of the young man. It was reported Sunday that the forger under arrest at Lafayette, and who had given the assumed name of George Weeks, was Harry McFail, but until a dispatch from Lafayette substantiated the report, little credence was given the story here.

McFail is a son of Frank McFail, a well known and well to do citizen of Richmond. Young McFail was thought to be of exemplary character. For a long time he worked for the Adams Express company here, resigning more than a year ago to take a position in the west. He was here ten days ago on a visit to his father and appeared prosperous. He left, ostensibly to return west.

CHARGE IS EMBEZZLEMENT.

Former Township Trustee is Arrested at Vincennes.

Vincennes, Ind., March 23.—Wayne Edwards has been arrested on a charge of embezzlement of $4,000 of the funds of Johnson township. The charge was preferred by William H. Moore, a citizen of Johnson township. Edwards went to jail without asking the privilege of giving bond, and will receive a preliminary hearing April 1. Edwards for two years has been at Quay, Okla., on a cattle ranch and had just returned home. He left the state rather suddenly, having been thrown out of the office of trustee of Johnson township because his bondsmen withdrew from his bond, and he was unable to get another within the time specified by the judge of the Knox circuit court.

DIDN'T SAY GOOD-BYE.

Richard Kinman Turns Up After River Has Been Dragged.

Petersburg, Ind., March 23.—Richard Kinman, a well known farmer and republican politician who mysteriously disappeared from his home near Velpin, this county, two weeks ago, and for whom relatives had been dragging the Patoka river, arrived home last night from Meola, Kas., where he had been visiting relatives. Kinman said when he left home he did not think to say good-bye to his family or to tell them where he was going.

WILL SPEAK AT PURDUE.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 23.—Governor Marshall made public today an invitation to address the G. A. R. posts on Memorial day, his intention of going to Purdue university on that occasion to address the faculty and students of that institution. He will be following a precedent established by Governor Mount and followed by Governor Durbin and Governor Hanly.

BUZZ SAW MAIMS TWO.

Hammond, Ind., March 23.—Whirling at a great rate of speed a big buzz saw broke from its bearings today and struck Herbert H. Holmes, fatally injuring him and John Banks, who lost an arm. The saw cut off Holmes' nose, and passed through his collar bone into his body.

MAY CLOSE UP DEAL.

Cuban Land and Improvement Company Still Considering Investment.

A committee from the Cuban Land and Improvement company, consisting of Dr. W. W. Barnett, Allen Vesey, Louis F. Curdes and W. D. Henderson will probably leave on Sunday evening for Cuba, where final action on the proposition to buy 32,500 acres of valuable timber land may be taken. The committee members have not made all the necessary arrangements needed to leave on Sunday and they may not get away then.

The land being considered is of the most valuable in the island and the proposition to invest in it was first broached about a year ago.

PAYNE IS UNDER HOT CROSS-FIRE

INTERCHANGE WAS FAST AND FURIOUS

Speaker Asserts That Taken as Whole, Revision is Downward.

Washington, March 23.—When the house met at 11 o'clock today there was a slim attendance of members. No sooner had Mr. Payne begun further explanation of the tariff bill that he was plied with questions from all sides. Again he was asked, this time by Mr. Moore, (Pennsylvania,) if there would be an opportunity to offer amendments to the bill in the house, "or," Mr. Moore added, "must we look elsewhere?" meaning the senate.

"That," replied Mr. Payne, "is entirely in the judgment of the house and in its control."

All he was seeking to do, he said was to finish his speech and to him it seemed an impossible task.

In his replies to questions Mr. Payne was more aggressive than he was yesterday. He became highly indignant when Mr. Garrett, (Tennessee,) inquired if, taking the bill as a whole, it was not "revision upward."

"The gentleman has no right to say that," the republican leader shortly announced. "It is not fair to say so as an honorable man." With a good deal of emphasis he declared that taken as a whole, the revision was downward, but as to luxuries it was, he said, "revision upward, and ought to be."

Payne Charges Unfairness.

He said any man would understand by reading the bill its general trend and he charged that the idea of interpellating such a remark as that made by Mr. Garrett was "not fair to me, to the committee nor to the country."

Disclaiming any improper motive, Mr. Garrett said he wanted to know the real fact.

"You asked the question by way of suggestion," Mr. Payne retorted, with some warmth, "and you meant to insert that remark in the body of my speech."

An instant later Mr. Payne had a sharp colloquy with Mr. Garner, (Texas) who asked for an explanation regarding free hides.

"I will get to him," said Mr. Payne hotly. "I know it is a local issue with the gentleman," said he, "and" he added with the unconscious pun, "I know he will try to hide himself behind a revenue duty in order to meet the demands of those democrats in his district who are clamoring for a duty on hides."

"The democrats in my district," quickly retorted Mr. Garner, "are also clamoring for free leather, free harness and free shoes."

Continuing his explanation and answering many queries, Mr. Payne said the cut in the metal schedule would not destroy the tin plate industry in the United States.

Became Irritated Again.

Mr. Payne became somewhat irritated when Mr. Capron (Rhode Island) interrupted his explanation of the file schedule. The Rhode Island member asserted that Mr. Payne was not stating the whole case, "and should not make it appear as if he was speaking as attorney for importers."

Mr. Moore, (Pennsylvania) got into the discussion and answering him and Mr. Capron, Mr. Payne declared that the revision of the steel file schedule would not destroy that industry in the United States.

"And now I come to hides," Mr. Payne said with a sigh of relief. He made a general attack on the so-called hide trust and said the "Big Four" packers controlled the hide industry in the United States.

"Do you think," interrupted Mr. Reeder (Kansas), "The big four would be generous enough to turn this tariff over to the consumers?"

"Oh," responded Mr. Payne, "they would not turn anything over to anybody unless obliged to."

The result of placing hides on the free list, Mr. Payne declared, "would be to protect the independent tanner and give work to the men employed by them. It won't hurt anybody in the United States, except the middlemen and the packers."

Feeling among the democrats in the house was at fever heat today as a result of the rebuke the democratic caucus delivered last night impersonally to the twenty-three "bolters" who voted for the Fitzgerald amendment to the rules of the house, in opposition to Minority Leader Clark. Representative Keliher, of Massachussetts, the recalcitrants, announced that henceforth he would not recognize Mr. Clark as his leader.

CONSISTORY TO COME AFTER A LONG EFFORT

Fort Wayne Gets Branch of Sublime Princes of Royal Secret.

Indianapolis, March 23.—The Indiana Council of Deliberation of the Scottish Rite, at its annual meeting in the Scottish Rite temple on South Pennsylvania street, yesterday afternoon voted to establish a consistory of sublime princes of the Royal Secret at Fort Wayne. This consistory will be the only one in Indiana outside of Indianapolis, and was obtained after a long effort by Scottish Rite Masons of Fort Wayne. Through the institution of the new consistory the territory of Indiana will have to be divided so that some of the territory heretofore under the jurisdiction of the Indianapolis consistory will be transferred to Fort Wayne.

Fort Wayne will have exclusive jurisdiction over twenty-two counties, as follows: Allen, Wells, Lagrange, Noble, Wabash, St. Joseph, Porter, Blackford, Miami, Elkhart, Fulton, Kosciusko, DeKalb, Adams, Steuben, Huntington, Whitley, Marshall, Lake, Jay, Starke and Laporte. At the same time concurrent jurisdiction is given over the following seven counties: Randolph, Delaware, Cass, Grant, Jasper, Newton and Pulaski. There are already one thousand members of the Scottish Rite in Fort Wayne jurisdiction, and the institution of the consistory is a notable advance for Masonry in that city.

Officers of the Council.

Officers of the council, to serve for three years, were elected as follows: William Geake, Fort Wayne, most illustrious commander in chief; Sam B. Sweet, Indianapolis, grand first lieutenant commander; Henry C. Adams, Indianapolis, grand second lieutenant commander; Lawrence V. Buskirk, Bloomington, grand minister of state; Charles E. Read, Fort Wayne, grand chancellor; John H. Holliday, Indianapolis, grand prior; Charles F. Meyer, Indianapolis, grand treasurer; Jacob W. Smith, Indianapolis, grand secretary; Roscoe O. Hawkins, Indianapolis, grand master of ceremonies; George W. Pixley, Fort Wayne, grand hospitlar; Charles D. King, Lebanon, grand seneschal; Alexander W. Thomson, Indianapolis, grand standard bearer; Charles L. Hutchinson, Indianapolis, grand engineer and architect; Robert A. Woods, Princeton, grand captain of the guard, and Luther Short, Franklin, grand sentinel.

William Geake gave his annual address to the council. There were reports by the treasurer and secretary which showed the organization to be in a flourishing condition. Fifty of the sixty-five members of the council, made up of thirty-third degree Masons and representatives from subordinate lodges, were present. The council of deliberation is the legislative body of the Scottish Rite and bears the same relation to that organization as the grand lodge bears to the blue lodge Masons.

Fort Wayne members of the fraternity who were in attendance at the council of deliberation included William Geake, C. A. Wilding, C. E. Read, F. E. Stouder, J. L. Gruber, J. M. Henry, A. E. Carroll, J. B. Harper, R. S. Viberg, C. B. Fitch, Art Smith and E. M. Wilson. James W. Sale, of Bluffton, was also a member of the party.

AT YOUNGSTOWN.

Youngstown, O., March 23.—An immense crowd gave "Billy" Whitla an ovation as he arrived at the Erie station here this morning. He was driven in a closed carriage with his father and detectives to the Central police station, where he failed to identify Joseph Wess, among a crowd, as his abductor. After being held for four hours, from 10 o'clock last night until 2 o'clock this morning, Joseph Wess, local theatrical promoter, suspected of being implicated in the Whitla case, was released. Wess was closely questioned by Chief of Police McDowell and proved an alibi, by accounting for all his movements in the last five days.

FIGURED IN MASONIC AND RAIL LIFE MANY YEARS

Marion F. Teagarden Expired Very Suddenly —The Deaths.

The death call this morning unexpectedly summoned Marion F. Teagarden, for many years one of the prominent figures in Fort Wayne railroad circles and an influential member and officer of several Masonic bodies. The deceased was aged 62 years, 5 months and 16 days and the demise occurred at 3 o'clock at the family home at 405 West Superior street. Death resulted from valvular disease of the heart.

Mr. Teagarden had been under the care of a physician for the past five weeks but yesterday he thought himself able to visit with a few friends down-town. Returning to his home about 5 o'clock in the afternoon, he complained to the family of feeling worse and Dr. McCausland, the family physician was summoned. The patient was put to bed and though seized with convulsions, there was no thought that his condition was critical. At various intervals he conversed with the doctor and members of the family but about 3 o'clock this morning he was taken with another seizure and life passed from his body.

MARION F. TEAGARDEN, Well Known Fort Wayne Man Who Has Passed Away.

The deceased had been a resident of the city for the past twenty-five years, assisting during his early years in the construction work on the Nickel Plate road. He then took a place with the road as engineer but was severely injured in a wreck on the 18th of December, 1884, and since that time had not been connected with active railroad life, but had been attending the duties of the secretary and treasurereships of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, besides acting as secretary of the Fort Wayne chapter and Summit City lodges of the Free and Accepted Masons. He was a 32nd degree Mason and was also a Mystic Shriner, and though in reality a retired engineer, his life in the past twenty-three years had been one of much activity.

The birthplace of the deceased was in Knox county, near Brandon, O., the date of his birth being October 7th, 1846. Before coming with his family to this city he was engaged as engineer on the Baltimore & Ohio road for several years, with headquarters in Garrett. Two of his sons are acting in similar capacities on that road and their homes are in Garrett. The Teagarden family for several generations has been connected with railroad life and his father, James Teagarden, was killed in a bad road wreck on May 10, 1853, near Mansfield, O., which for many years was the home of the Teagarden family.

Surviving him are his wife, Mrs. Mary Alice Teagarden, and six children—Harvey and Thomas Teagarden are the sons serving as engineers on the B. & O road and Miss May Teagarden is affiliated with the electric lighting offices of the Fort Wayne and Wabash Valley Traction company. Mrs. Howard Gisseking is a daughter who lives in Eel River township and Edward and Edna Belle Teagarden are younger members of the family who live at the West Superior street home. Albert T. Teagarden, of Mansfield, O., and Mrs. Benjamin Roberts, of Beaumont, Texas, and Mrs. John French, of Springfield, O., are the brother and sisters of the deceased.

MEEGAN.

The death of Mrs. Ellen Meegan, widow of Thomas Meegan, occurred at the home in New York at an early hour this morning. The four children in New York will leave with the remains at 4:55 o'clock this afternoon, arriving here Wednesday noon by way of the Pennsylvania. The remains will be taken immediately to the Cathedral where the funeral services will be held and interment will take place in the Catholic cemetery.

Mrs. Meegan was 71 years of age and was a full sister of J. C. Peltier, of this city. After the retirement of her husband from railroad life, they moved to Kansas City, where the death of Mr. Meegan occurred several years later and Mrs. Meegan then went to New York to live with her sons and has been there for the past six years. About eighteen months ago she was severely injured by being dragged by a street car which she was endeavoring to board and these injuries together with her advanced age resulted in her death. She had been in a very critical condition for some time and her death was expected momentarily. Mrs. Meegan was a pioneer resident of Fort Wayne and it was but ten years ago when she left with her husband for Kansas City. Mr. Meegan was the veteran shop clerk in the local Pennsylvania shops.

Besides her brother James C. Peltier, Mrs. Meegan leaves four children, Frank and Charles, who are located in business in New York city; Mrs. J. Sam Ryland, of Kansas City, Mo., and Mrs. Edward S Taylor, of New York.

Those who will act as pall bearers will be W. P. Breen, William Drier, George L. DeWald, E. A. Barnes, P. J. McDonald and E. M. Hulse.

FAILOR.

Jacob Failor, a well-known member of the local Plasters' union, died at a local hospital Monday night after a severe sickness of two weeks from heart trouble. He was forty-four years of age and had been making his home with his sister, Mrs. Mary Frempel, of 2610 John street.

Mr. Failor had been ailing since the 22nd of last February when he was forced to give up work. His condition two weeks ago was such as to warrant his removal to the hospital and but little hope was held out for his recovery. Surviving besides the sister is a brother, Wilson Failor who is employed in the Moellering brick yards.

Funeral services Thursday morning at 9 o'clock from the sister's home and interment in the Catholic cemetery.

KANAAR.

At the home of the parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Klunder, at 818 Davis street, Mrs. Minnie Kanaar, wife of William Kanaar, of Oelwein, Ia., died of tuberculosis at the age of 23 years, 4 months and 29 days. The demise occurred at 7:30 o'clock this morning.

Mrs. Kanaar came to this city with her four children just a month ago in the belief that a change of climate would benefit her health. Her condition was not bettered, however, and a week ago her husband, who had been working as a machinist at Brainerd, Minn., was summoned. Besides the husband, four children and parents of the deceased, there are two brothers and one sister surviving.

Funeral services Friday at 2 p. m. from the residence.

SPRINGER.

Dorothy Dora Springer, the five-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Springer, of 3337 Piqua avenue, died Monday evening from the effects of bronchitis.

One of the reporters in the party broke into the conversation with the interjection:

"Some one told me, Colonel, that you were going to be our next president."

He Was Still Smiling.

Mr. Roosevelt immediately threw up both hands and exclaimed:

"Good bye, gentlemen, good bye."

But he was still smiling when the interview closed.

M. Jusserand, the French ambassador, and Mrs. Jusserand, went aboard the steamer shortly after Mr. Roosevelt's party arrived and were escorted to the Roosevelt quarters. They conversed with Mr. Roosevelt for some time.

A notable feature of the reception on the steamer was a tribute to the ex-president by the Italian chamber of commerce of New York city. This body presented a bronze tablet bearing on one side a portrait of the ex-president and on the other the scene of the Sicilian earthquake and a representation of the goddess of peace placing a wreath on Mr. Roosevelt's head. The tablet was inscribed:

"To Theodore Roosevelt, to you and the United States, a tribute of thanksgiving from Italo-Americans for generous help to their stricken brethren of Calabria and Sicily."

Shortly before the steamer sailed, Mr. Roosevelt, escorted by a detachment of local police, appeared at the after gang-way, which led to the pier. The police had cleared an open space across the pier to the point where the Italian-American organization had a bronze tablet in readiness to present him.

Signal for Cheering.

The appearance of Mr. Roosevelt was the signal for tremendous cheering by the crowds on the pier and on the steamer's deck. As he came down the gang-plank the cheering continued and a party of college boys from Stevens' Institute, in Hoboken, let loose their college yell. On the way across the pier the lines of police escorting Mr. Roosevelt were broken through by the pressure of the eager crowd and the ex-president was swept toward the tablet by the rush. The crowd closed in solidly behind him and while the police were endeavoring to fight off the on-rush Mr Roosevelt asked the speakers to make the presentation ceremony very brief. The Italian orator cut short his lengthy address, briefly stating that the tablet was presented by the Italians in appreciation of what Mr. Roosevelt had caused to be done for the suffering people of Southern Italy and Calabria.

Mr. Roosevelt in reply, said:

"I appreciate this very much. I want to thank you all. I cannot tell you how deeply touched I am."

Begins Interesting Journey.

With the departure of Theodore Roosevelt on the steamship Hamburg today begins the most interesting journey ever undertaken by an ex-president of the United States. General Grant's trip circled the globe, but it was for the most part in the beaten paths of travel, while Mr. Roosevelt is going into a wild and almost unexplored country.

The ex-president on his arrival at the Hamburg-American line pier in Hoboken was greeted by bands playing, flags flying, and cheers of several thousand people who had assembled to wish the distinguished traveler God-speed. He was beaming with good nature and enthusiasm about the trip. Everything was "fine" and "bully" to Mr. Roosevelt and he acknowledged the cheering by repeatedly raising his hat.

The steamship company had been besieged with requests from local and out of town delegations for places on the pier and as many of them as possible were accommodated. The Italians were very much in evidence with six large delegations. They wanted to take six bands on the pier, but the company's officials persuaded them to cut it down to one. A large delegation came from Pittsburg and other out-of-town delegations swelled the numbers on the pier by several hundred. A number of foreign diplomats, including the French ambassador and men who were prominent in the Roosevelt admisnistration, were received on board the Hamburg.

While the distinguished passenger had left explicit instructions with General Manager Boas and Captain Burmeister of the Hamburg, on his visit of inspection to the steamer yesterday, that he would prefer to have no unusual attentions shown him aboardship at the time of sailing, the captain and his officers could not forego the opportunity to greet the ex-president in true military style. They all wore their showiest buttons and braids and stood about at respectful attention whenever Mr. Roosevelt appeared. Everything had been put in ship-shape order on the boat. The outside of the numerous deck houses and the cabins along the promenade decks had all received a new coat of white paint and the big boat had been scrubbed and polished from stem to stern.

Suites a Palace.

The suite of five rooms combine all the conveniences and appointments of the best hotel apartments. The first room, which is used as the parlor, was banked with flowers that had been sent to the steamer by friends in advance of the Roosevelt party today. The parlor walls are covered with a rich green silk armure and the pictures of Washington and Lincoln are hung among several others. Two large mahogany sofas and a center table to match, are the most prominent articles of furniture in this room. The second room in the suite, Kermit's bed room, and the third, used as a drawing room, are finished in light blue and gold and the walls are covered with a blue figured jute tapestry. The fourth room, in which Mr. Roosevelt will sleep is the most handsomely appointed of all. Golden brown silk damask covers the walls and the furniture is of mahogany, with the exception of the heavy brass bed. The bathroom has a high marble wainscoating with a dark red tiled floor and is equipped with both fresh and salt water. Large windows open on the ocean side from all the rooms. The whole suite is electrically heated and lighted, and the electroilers and drop lights are of bronze. Some of the pictures and smaller furnishings in the suite were presented to the Hamburg officials by Emperor William at the time he occupied the same rooms on his cruise to Italy and on another cruise to Norway. An ornamented picture of the emperor and empress, with their signatures attached, adorns the reception hall, just outside the suite.

The gymnasium, situated in a large deck house built on the upper deck, aft, and equipped with all the latest exercising machines, is the pride of Mr. Roosevelt's eye. "Great!" he said, as he inspected it yesterday.

Besides the saddle machines, on which one can get the exact motion of the horse and camel at all regulated speeds, there are all kinds of vibrators and appliances for reducing the waist, strengthening the ankles and weight lifts and pulleys to supply action to every muscle in the human body.

Passengers Were Early.

Many of the passengers who sailed today on the steamer Hamburg went on board the steamer last night in order to avoid the rush and confusion of the crowds which were expected today. The last of the outfit of the Roosevelt party was stored in the ship's hold early today and all of Mr. Roosevelt's personal effects were taken to the suite which he and Kermit will occupy during the voyage.

Photographs of President Taft and of several members of the Roosevelt family, including a full length photograph of Mrs. Nicholas Longsworth had been placed on the walls of the parlor suite during the night.

Nothing to Say—But Talked.

"It's just a fine day to travel," said Mr. Roosevelt, "and ought to be fine at sea. I have received hundreds of telegrams wishing me a safe journey, but I will not give out the names of those who sent them. As I have said before, I have no statement to make, and it's strange you gentlemen of the press have not asked me this morning if I have a message for the American people. No there is nothing to be said, and I really do not know why newspaper men should want to travel with me to Naples or Mombassa. Really there is little likelihood of there being any incidents at sea.

You tell me that the photographer of Mr. Harmsworth's papers, who accompanied the prince of Wales to India, is going to join us at Gibraltar. That will be fine, won't it, Kermit? He can help you.

"I cannot definitely say how long I shall be away, but it will be about fifteen months. My lecture at Oxford will take place in the spring of 1910. I expect to have a good time and I am sure the expedition will be a success."

THE SECRET OUT.

"What made my lovely complexion? I do not like to tell, for it was medicine, but the nicest a woman ever took. It was Lane's Family Medicine that did it." This is a pleasant herb tea which acts favorably on the stomach and bowels, purifying the blood and cleansing the skin like magic. It cures headache and backache. Druggists and dealers sell it. 25c.

OSTEOPATHIC NOTES

FOR THE EDUCATION OF THE PUBLIC BY DR. SEAMAN, 221 W. WAYNE ST—A FALL AND ITS RESULTS.

The tissues of the various organs of the body are so constituted as to respond rapidly to heat and cold. Under the influence of cold the tissues contract and press upon the nerves and blood vessels within them. This is demonstrated when the back of the neck is exposed to a cold draught. The muscles of the neck may become rigid and the movements of the head and neck impaired, accompanied by more or less pain. As a result of these muscles contracting, the circulation becomes obstructed in the head and throat and you have a bad cold. Expose or injure the upper part of the back or chest and pleurisy, bronchitis, pneumonia, stomach troubles or diseases of the heart and eyes are most apt to follow. Expose or injure the lower part of the spine and disorders of the bowels, liver, kidney and bladder develop, lumbago, sciatica, back ache and many other disorders.

A TYPICAL EXPERIENCE.

A man meets with an accident. His friends say, "Are you hurt?" "No, not much." The soreness in his back almost wholly disappears in a few days. It may be, though for some time afterward he does not feel quite well. He gets a bottle of medicine at the store and takes it. Thus begins the long story that all know so well. Most likely he is taking some yet. It makes no difference whether he drinks it, or rubs it on the outside, it will not "hit the right spot" and overcome the mechanical disturbance set up in tissues. It may be weeks or months or even years afterward. He has forgotten about the fall or accident. He goes to an osteopath as a last resort, or out of curiosity. He "has no faith in it of course," for his friend, or his doctor (who, as a rule, has just as little knowledge of the basic principles of osteopathy as the rest of humanity), had said, "It may be good for some things, but it can't help you." But he goes to the osteopath just the same.

On examination, an irregularity of the spine is found that will interfere with the nerve and blood supply to the stomach and bowels, and which weakens them. Competent osteopathic treatment will correct that irregularity in the spine, thus permitting a return of normal functions of the entire digestive system.

the top of the cigar case and went away."

The Uhle grocery store is in the rear of Standard school and is one of those familiar small establishments where school children may purchase pencils and note books. Its customers are infrequent and the place was exceedingly well chosen for such a transaction when publicity was not desired. Mrs. Uhle, the proprietor, has conducted the place for seventeen years. She was not in the store when the passage of ransom took place, and only her daughter, the wife of an employe of the Natural Gas Regulator company, was a witness to the transaction.

SCENE WAS TOUCHING.

Kidnaped Boy Rushes Into Father's Arms at Cleveland.

Cleveland, Ohio, March 23.—Willie Whitla is safe with his father. He walked into the lobby of the Hollenden hotel last night and ended the search which hundreds of detectives have been making in scores of cities and towns in the central states since Thursday, when the boy was kidnaped from his school in Sharon, Pa.

The recovery of the boy was the result of an agreement made by the boy's father with a woman who acted as agent for the kidnappers. Mr. Whitla is known to have carried $10,000 in cash to the meeting place. He refuses to tell whether or not he paid the money, but he has said often that he willingly would meet any demand of the kidnapers if his boy were returned unharmed.

Willie is in perfect health. He says that he has been well treated and ever since his capture has been constantly indoors.

He believes he was taken from Sharon to Warren and thence to Newcastle, Pa. It is his opinion, expressed in a happy schoolboy way, that he was in Ashtabula on Saturday night at the time his father was to leave his $10,000 in Flatiron park.

The boy says he was in a place which resembled a hospital and that his captors were doctors.

In the delivery of the boy the kidnapers kept their identity hidden. In compliance with the agreement entered into between the kidnaped boy's father and the agent of the kidnapers, the boy was placed on a street car on the outskirts of the city and started to the hotel shortly after 8 o'clock.

Boy Hunts for Father.

Two boys, G. W. Ramsey and Edward Mahoney, recognized the lad on the car and taking him in charge, conducted him to the hotel, where his father was waiting, according to a prearranged plan which he had followed at the dictation of the kidnapers.

The boy wandered about the hotel lobby unannounced for several minutes, asking bell boys for his father before the latter knew his son was in the big foyer. The moment the anxious parent heard that a strange boy was in the hotel sauntering in aimless fashion, he rushed across the lobby, grasped him in his arms and smothered his face with kisses.

An attempt had been made to disguise the lad. He wore a pair of smoked glasses and a large tan cap which was pulled down over his ears.

Father Obeys Letter Offer.

The recovery of the boy came through a letter the father of the boy received yesterday from the kidnapers at his home in Sharon saying that if he called at a confectionery store in the east end of Cleveland he would be told how to secure his boy unharmed and "well fed."

Shortly after noon he left Sharon for Cleveland. He was unaccompanied. His immediate family and the private detectives he had in his employ he apprised of the proposed secret meeting, but insisted that he make the trip alone.

Every one of them was warned that he must be allowed to go unheeded and no attempt at the capture of the kidnapers be made. Whitla was certain that if he spoiled the plans of his son's captors last night he would never see the lad again. His experience at Ashtabula served as a warning.

Whitla Meets Woman Agent.

About 2 o'clock in the afternoon Mr. Whitla went to a candy store in the east end. With him he carried the $10,000, expecting that it would be demanded of him there. He was met by a woman who detailed to him the terms of the kidnapers. With all the eagerness of a distracted parent, Whitla agreed to them immediately.

Detectives in his employ say that he paid the money, but on this point the father declines to commit himself. Half an hour later he returned to the Hollenden hotel and awaited developments.

His entrance to the hotel was shrouded in secrecy. By a previous arrangement made with the hotel management he did not register. Detective G. B. Perkins, who has superintended the search for the boy in behalf of the father, was in the lobby of the hotel, calmly smoking and pretending to be unconcerned. But the hearts of both parent and detective were beating anxiously.

Promises Boy's Return.

The agent of the kidnapers promised the boy would be started toward the hotel shortly after nightfall. As the hour for the appearance of the child approached, Mr. Whitla became nervous. He disregarded the advice of the detectives, who told him to keep out of sight of the newspaper men and the crowds of curious people who had learned that he was in the city. Emerging from his room, he walked up and down the hall on the second floor with his hands clasped across his breast. Then, unable to stand the suspense longer, he went into the lobby and seated himself in a chair.

Long Vigil Is Begun.

For more than an hour Whitla waited in the lobby smoking black cigars and muttering to himself. Detective Perkins sat near him and pleaded with him to have patience. A friend approached and Whitla walked into a secluded corner of the hotel and talked to him in monosyllables. His eyelids twitched nervously. He rubbed his hands and silently prayed for the quick return of his boy.

The woman at the candy store had done her duty. She communicated with the captors of the boy and told them that the father had made no attempt to trap them. The kidnapers were satisfied, but Mr. Whitla declines to name the woman in charge of the confectionery store, and almost dares the police to locate her.

So the boy was brought from his hiding place—where it was no one knows—to a car line in the east end of the city which would bring him into town quickly.

Kidnaper Jests with Boy.

The kidnaper, according to Willie, was cheerful enough. The mysterious man and the youngster skipped in schoolboy fashion toward the trolley line, jesting in the meantime.

A few rods from the car line the man stopped. Pulling a pair of smoked glasses from his pocket, he adjusted them to the lad's head, with the remark:

"You'll look better in these."

The sides of the black yarn cap were pulled carefully over the boy's ears. A slip, which Willie was to hand to the conductor, was put in the boy's pocket. It read:

"Send this boy to the Hollenden hotel, double quick."

With all arrangements made and his tracks apparently well covered, the kidnaper took the boy's right hand in his brawny left and they continued briskly along toward the car line. The lad skipped gayly enough with his companion, the promise of seeing his "dad" and "ma" urging him forward. They chatted with each other.

Child Placed Upon Car.

Willie says the man told him that if anybody asked him who took him to the car line to tell him it was "Mr. Jones."

"Just tell them your name is Jones, too, if you want to," said the kidnaper.

"All right, Mr. Jones," answered Willie.

Presently a car came into view and the mysterious Mr. Jones drew the boy closer to him.

"Well, Willie, you are going down town now and you will see your papa pretty soon," he said.

This delighted Willie. He swung on to the car quickly, according to the conductor. "Mr. Jones" paid the boy's fare and then got off the car and disappeared after waving a friendly adieu. This farewell salute to his little captive was continued until the latter on the car had disappeared in the inky darkness of the night.

Makes Friends with Passengers.

The boy gazed about the car for a familiar face. He saw no one he knew. Presently, Edward Mahoney, who is a 17 year old boy of jolly visage, came into the car. He sat down in the seat with the boy. Mahoney, like almost every other person in Cleveland, was looking for little Willie Whitla, the kidnaped boy. So when his eyes lighted on Willie he started a conversation.

"What's your name?" he queried.

"Jones," answered Willie, true to his kidnaper friend.

But Mahoney was not to be fooled. He called his friend Ramsey over from another part of the car and showed him Willie. He suggested that it might be the missing child. Then Willie showed them his transfer slip, saying that he should be put off at the Hollenden hotel, and they were convinced that they had accomplished more than had all the sleuths in the country.

Great Crowd Welcomes Him.

The boys, now willing companions, took Willie to the hotel. He skipped through the doors ahead of them and into the lobby. The boys partly lost track of him in the crowd, so anxious was the youngster to catch a glimpse of a face he loved. And then, again, Mahoney and Ramsey were not so sure of their abilities as sleuths when they got in view of an audience.

Willie didn't see his father, mother, or sister in the lobby.

Walking over to the clerk he asked: "Have you seen my papa?"

"Who is he, boy?" he was asked.

"O, I'm Mr. Whitla's Willie," he replied.

The crowd nearest the boy, who heard the words, rushed in around him. The lad was shoved up against the hotel counter and the scene closely resembled a panic.

Across the lobby the father, his eyes red from weeping, heard the piping voice of his son. Frantic with joy at the sound, he rushed through the office corridor and in a moment was fighting his way through the spectators.

Parent Rushes Through Crowd.

Plunging and squirming, knocking bystanders right and left, the frenzied parent made his way to the bewildered boy in knickerbockers standing solemnly with automobile goggles in front of the clerk's desk.

The kidnaped boy saw his parent coming. He opened his lips to speak. The words were never spoken. Grasping Willie in his arms, the happy father planted a score of kisses on his lips.

"It's my boy, my darling Willie," he cried.

Tears gushed from his eyes. He pressed the child to his breast and hugged him tightly.

Willie smiled a little. He was glad to see his papa, but he did not realize what all the fuss was about.

When the crowd realized that the kidnaped child had been returned to its parent a cheer was given. For three minutes the handclapping and shouting continued. There were cheers for the boy and then cheers for the father.

Phones Tidings to Mother.

Stripping off the boy's cap and the smoked glasses, Mr. Whitla revealed his boy's bare head for the first time. He lifted the lad high above his head so that every one might get a good view of the now famous youngster who came near to rivaling the "lost Charlie Ross" of kidnaped fame.

As soon as he could push his way through the crowd Mr. Whitla went to his room on the second floor. He carried the boy in his arms. For several minutes he was alone in the room with his schoolboy son. Then through the door came these words, spoken by the father to the boy's mother on the long distance telephone:

"O, mother, I have Willie here in my arms. He is safe. Glory to God, mamma! It is the happiest night of my life."

There was a pause. The mother was pleading for her husband to return the boy to his home at once.

"I am sorry, mother," Whitla said. "I can't get a train out of here until 8 o'clock in the morning. But I will come home as soon as possible. You can trust me with him, little mother, can't you?"

Crowds Call to See Boy.

Detective Reed next answered the phone. Whitla praised him for his work and told him of the recovery of the child. Five minutes after the father had entered his room fully 2,000 persons were gathered in the hallways and lobbies of the hotel. Those who were unable to get into the hotel stood on the sidewalk and shouted for a glimpse of the boy. Again and again they called his name and implored his father to bring him out and let them look at him.

Mr. Whitla acquiesed to the request of the crowd and carrying the boy on his shoulder walked down into the lobby. Mounting a raised platform in the center of the lobby, Mr. Whitla gave every one a chance to see both father and recovered son.

Cries of "speech, speech" caused Whitla to say a few words. His quivering voice was too full of joy for him to make connected speech, but he poured out the happiness of his heart in the few words that he uttered.

Father Gives Thanks to All.

With his right arm around the boy's neck and little Willie's head nestled into the folds of his father's coat the father said:

"This is my son. He was lost and is found again. If I live a thousand years I can never do enough to repay the press, the police and the people who have done noble work in helping me find my boy and in extending their sympathy to me and to my family and relatives."

When Whitla ceased speaking there were demands for a few words from the boy. The lad for the first time showed signs of fright. Upon being restored to his feet he wrapped his arms around his "dady's" legs and hid his face under the coat. Whitla gently drew the lad's head from out of the folds of the coat and told him to say something to the cheering hundreds.

The boy turned his face upward. But he could not speak. The tears, bigger than raindrops, coursed down his cheeks. Again the crowd cheered and the boy was lifted down from the platform by his father and returned to his room.

Whitla refused to see any one in his room until after he had personally thanked the Mahoney and Ramsey boys, who brought Willie to the hotel. He made each of them a substantial gift.

Whitla received the newspaper men later. Willie told his story as best he could. It was not a lucid story in every way, but it was romantic from his childish lips. He could not remember every place he had been, but he gave an idea of his travels, so that it will be possible for the police to cover a part of the trail made by the kidnapers.

"Papa," said the boy in a tone of childish prattle, "I have been buggy riding, been on cars, and in a nice big white house that looked like a hospital. I have been treated nice and had lots of good things to eat.

Tells of Leaving School.

"One man, tall and with a black mustache, came to the schoolhouse Thursday and told my teacher, Mrs. Anna Lewis, that you wanted me at your office. I went out to a buggy with him. I got in and then he got in. Then we rode away. On the way downtown he asked me to address a letter to you. I did this and then dropped it into a mail box. He was awfully kind.

"We went from Sharon to Warren. We had the nicest trip. The man, who was the same one who brought me to the car line tonight, was nice to me. He tucked the robe about my legs and made made comfortable. It was a nice ride and I enjoyed it. Gee, he was good.

"When we got to a place the man said was Warren the man left the buggy in the road. Then we got on what I think was an electric car. I don't just remember what it was, but it was something like a street car. I don't know what became of the horse and buggy. I was sleepy when we got on the car and I slept much of the way to the place where we were going.

Thinks He Was in Hospital.

"When we got to a town that the man called New Castle, they took me to a big building and turned me over to a woman. She was good to me. The hospital, or whatever the building was, was a clean place. There was a man there who I think was a doctor. He looked like a doctor, because he had whiskers—short, gray whiskers.

"The people in the hospital told me that I must do just what they told me to do. If I did not obey them they said they would take me to a place called the pesthouse, where folks that have smallpox have to go. It was not a clean or pretty place to go they told me. I would have been good, anyhow, but when I thought there was any chance of having to go to the pesthouse I did not do a thing that I shouldn't have done.

"I walked the chalk just like a good boy, papa; like you've told me to do.

Ashtabula Trip is Told.

"On Saturday night I was taken away from the hospital and I think we went to a town called Ashtabula. We traveled in a buggy and on foot. Early in the morning we went back to the hospital. I heard one of the men say: 'There will be nothing doing tonight, I guess.'

"I might have been right here in Cleveland, though, papa, for some of the town that I saw tonight on the car looked like the place we went to Saturday night.

"They told me all along that I was just taking a little vacation. I was not going to be hurt, they told me. So I just acted nice and had a good time playing around the hospital. I knew I would get back home all right, and just supposed 'Mr. Jones' was one of my friends who was treating me nice because you wanted him to treat me that way, papa, dear."

"Happiest Night of His Life."

The boy told the story slowly. At times he stopped and kissed and hugged the father. His father sat as if in a trance. The music of his boy's voice seemed to charm him as no music ever had before. A minute after the lad finished his narrative and the detectives were standing around admiring him, the father said: "Willie I am happier tonight than I have ever been before in my whole life."

Little Willie slipped his arms around his father's neck and imprinted a kiss on his father's lips. The tears rolled from Whitla's eyes. He gazed at the child for a moment and then, stroking the blonde locks of Willie, he said slowly:

"God bless you, my darling boy."

Child is Put to Bed.

Whitla handed the boy to Detective Perkins and reaching into a grip produced a little nightgown for the boy. The gown has been in the grip constantly since the boy was kidnaped. The father has always been determined that his child should have a good night's rest after his being found. So in the sight of the detectives, Whitla stripped the little sweater, pants, stockings, shoes, and underclothes—the same ones that the boy wore away when he was kidnaped—from off the child's form, and robing him in the nightgown, prepared him for bed.

The father and son knelt down and prayed and then the little fellow was tucked into his bed by his father. He was asleep in a few minutes.

Epilepsy, Fits

Convulsions, or Spasms and St. Vitus' Dance are Nervous Diseases. Most cases can be cured by strengthening and building up the nervous system. To do this a nerve medicine is needed. Dr. Miles' Nervine will be found efficacious and satisfactory. It has cured many cases of these diseases and we believe it will cure you. We can give you names of many who have been cured through its use. Write for advice.

"My son John had epilepsy for years, and after having him treated by specialists for over 2 years he still continued to have spells. I had almost given up in despair, but knowing the virtue of Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills for sick headache, I concluded to try the Nervine. During June, 1906, I gave him a teaspoonful three times a day, then in July I gave it as directed, and I could see that he was improving, and he has not had a spell since August 28, 1906, and has taken no medicine since Jan.-07. I am writing the case just as it is hoping it will induce others to try it."

TRACK ELEVATION.

It is manifest that the two railroads immediately affected by the pending track elevation project are simply sparring for time and better terms. Especially is this obvious in the case of the Wabash, which has been consistently antagonistic and bullheaded from the inception of the project to elevate the tracks. If these great corporations were convinced the law under which the city's procedure is conducted is as vulnerable as they profess conviction that it is the negotiations would engage their time only long enough for total repudiation. The Pennsylvania road is believed to be less antagonistic than it appears and its hostility more animated by a corporation fellow feeling for the Wabash than by definite settled purpose to resist the improvement. However, the last word has not been said and ground of acceptable compromise and agreement may yet be found.

One thing is certain. The city must without loss of time find a way to bring about this improvement the need for which is imperative. A stern obligation of civic morals and municipal integrity calls for solution of this grade crossing problem. Every day scores of lives are exposed to most dire peril. Couple with this question of public safety the also great question of a vital public convenience and there is made up an issue that may well engage the most resolute purpose of the city government backed by an equally resolute and determined public sentiment.

ROOSEVELT THE HUNTER.

Theodore Roosevelt, late president and now private citizen, embarks on his career as a great hunter. No matter how much he would have it otherwise, his trip to and his sojourn in the big game region is bound to be specular. For seven years he was the man who loomed greatest in the eye of the world, and this sudden transition from a place supremely conspicuous and tremendously influential to the almost inaccessible wilds of a land of savage mystery has a glamour of romance that must appeal to all classes in all lands where the fame of his splendid career could penetrate. The hearty wishes of a world for good luck and a good time go with him.

Mr. Roosevelt is no tyro sportsman. He has had vast experience in "roughing it" in the far west of his own country, and as a hunter we have among the men of our land none mightier than himself. But mighty hunters have long preceded him to the wilds of Africa. More than sixty years ago that intrepid Scot, Gordon Cumming, probed far into the interior of the dark continent and made a name as "The Lion Hunter" that today remains a tradition of the natives. Cumming and a little later Baldwin made their own paths in the vast and trackless wilderness whereof white men had hitherto known nothing. The magnificent sport they found in the primeval wilds gave back full recompense for the indescribable hardships and fearful perils they encountered.

Mr. Roosevelt, however, will find his fill of hardships and of perils all that any but a foolhardy man would care to meet. The chronicles of his experiences and the records of his researches will be a more valuable if not as thrilling a contribution to the literature of heroic sport as anything that came from the pen of Gordon Cumming, Charles Baldwin or any of the other mighty nimrods who pursued the joys of the chase in the interior of Africa.

That ten days in jail appendage to the customary city court fine for keeping a saloon open Sunday looks at first a little stiff for following what has been the general and unhindered practice for a decade and a half, but it is only by most painful severity that the unregenerate element of the liquor dealers can be convinced the others have reformed.

With a dozen or more murders within a period of as many weeks, and many of them the result of drink, it is but natural that those of the Indianapolis people who do not apprehend the palladium of liberty will be upset and shattered should consider a freeze-out of the saloons as an experiment worth trying as a palliative to crime.

The women of the country have taken up the tariff question and are very intelligently stating their case and declaring what they want. And this probably marks the place where old Uncle Nels Aldrich gets off the job as the last word on the tariff.

When Pat Crowe starts out to recover anything for which a reward is offered the presumption is reasonable that the price of delivery is going to be raised.

Wabash and Pennsylvania railroads are very friendly to track elevation if they do it on their own terms.

Hunting kidnapers with a numerous train and military bands is spectacular, but is merely hunting.

Good luck, Theodore. You've got at least one good time coming to you.

WAS BEAUTIFUL SERVICE.

Night Police and Board of Safety at Funeral of Police Chief's Son.

The entire night police force and the members of the board of safety attended the funeral of Walter W. Ankenbruck, the son of the chief of police, at 10 o'clock this morning. The services both at the house on East Washington street and at St. Mary's church were beautiful. At the home the casket was embanked in an immense and magnificent bed of flowers, in which there were twelve separate design pieces. The interment took place in the Catholic cemetery.

OVERCOME ON THE STREET.

John Steiman Ran After Interurban Car and is in Serious Condition.

Running after a Huntington interurban car that was just leaving the interurban depot at 10 o'clock this morning, John Steiman, of 340 West Butler street, was overcome with heart affection and fell helpless to the street. Dr. Ladd was called and it was with considerable difficulty that Mr. Steiman was revived sufficiently to be able to be taken to his home. His condition is considered serious, but not critical.

TWO NEW SCHOOLS ORDERED BY BOARD

Decision to Replace Washington and Holton Avenue Buildings.

By resolution adopted at its meeting Monday evening the city school board determined upon the erection of two new school buildings in Fort Wayne, to replace the present Washington street and Holton avenue buildings. The Washington school building, the oldest in the city, will be replaced by a new structure erected upon the site of the old building. The location of the new Holton avenue building has not been determined upon. It is at present regarded as too close to the Bowser works, and a new site will probably be chosen.

Sanction was also given for an official school field day, to be held in May or June, when pupils from the city schools will participate in a program of athletics under the direction of Prof. Henry Meyer.

Superintendent Study was authorized to extend the invitation to the Northern Indiana Teachers' association to hold its 1910 session in Fort Wayne.

ELECTRIC TALKS

No. 62

Some Neglected Cost Figures

It will pay every taxpayer of Fort Wayne to preserve the Nebraska State University formula for finding the real cost of electric lighting, as given in Talk 60.

While that was applied to Lincoln, we carefully noted the modifications necessary to make it apply to Fort Wayne.

What every taxpayer must not lose sight of is that current cash receipts larger than current cash expenditures so far from indicating a profit in electric lighting may mark a ruinous loss.

The reason of this is plain to those who have thus far followed these Talks: every year's use of the plant brings it one year nearer the end of its ten or twelve years of usefulness.

Whether it shall be ten OR twelve years depends partly on the experience and judgment with which the machinery and equipment are selected, and partly on the expertness and care with which they are operated.

But the lease of life possessed by the electric lighting plant taken as a whole is found to average about ten or twelve years.

This takes into account the fact that while some important parts of the equipment have a life of much less than six years, other parts, like the buildings, have a life of six or seven times as much. The average life of the whole is, however, as stated—ten to twelve years.

Whether Fort Wayne's municipal lighting plant, then, should have an annual depreciation rate of about 8 per cent, or one of 10 per cent., figured on the original investment, depends on whether the City got the best and most for its money in buying machinery or other equipment and installing it, or not.

In other words, whether the City accountants should write off each year for depreciation of the actual value of the municipal plant—supposing the entire plant to have cost, the day it began lighting Fort Wayne's streets, as estimated, an even $180,000—some $15,000 or some $18,000, depends on whether or not the City got its full money's worth at the outset.

Of course that annual depreciation as well as the interest on the money involved in the original investment must be reckoned into the actual cost of the street lighting.

In Fort Wayne this would mean $15,000 to $18,000 annual depreciation, plus $7,200, representing interest on $180,000 at 4 per cent.

Here is $22,200 to $25,200 which is to be added each year to the current cash expense of operating the plant, as part of the actual cost.

In Fort Wayne this cash operating expense has been estimated by the Council as not less than $53 per street lamp for the year 1909 and that is the appropriation. As there were 418 such lamps at the opening of the year, this would mean $22,154 merely for cash expenses for operating.

So we get $22,154 plus depreciation and interest of $22,200 to $25,200, or $44,354 to $47,354, as merely the sum of the three principal items of cost in conducting Fort Wayne's public lighting at City expense.

Now there are other things about a plant besides depreciation in the plant itself that impair its earning power—that lessen its value.

MORE GOOD NEWS

Yesterday we received another big consignment of fine suits from "Hart Schaffner & Marx." Stouts, slims, regulars and scores of extreme novelty patterns for the young men. We have marked these suits at the two prices—$15 and $22.

Now to put it in a way that you will be absolutely sure that these suits are great value, we will say this: No other store in the state that we know of sells a "Hart Schaffner & Marx" suit of any kind for less than $20. Now we show over 100 patterns at $15, and you will admit that the $22 suits are $7 better than the line at $15.

We can't expect to sell all the suits that are sold in Fort Wayne, but we ought to sell every strictly high-grade suit, for we offer all of the choice suits from the four finest manufacturers of men's and young men's suits at $5.00 to $10.00 less than you can find them in any other store in the state. Come and see what we are doing.

BAPTIST CHURCH AFFAIRS.

Men's Bible Class Will Enjoy Oyster Supper This Evening.

All who have attended the Men's Bible class of the First Baptist church since January 1, 1909, are invited to the oyster supper to be given in the banquet room of the church this evening at 8 o'clock. Preceding the supper the annual election of officers will take place. Some months ago an attendance contest was inaugurated and the class was divided into two parties the blues and the reds, with the understanding that the losing side was to tender a supper to the class. As a result of the efforts of both sides the class became a flourishing organization, but the blues were defeated in the regular number of attendants and hence will be hosts at the spread this evening. The chairman, Will Carter, was captain of the blues, and J. B. Mills was captain of the reds. Both winners and losers will enjoy themselves this evening and it is expected that there will be a large and interested attendance.

WABASH DELAYS THE HEARING BEFORE BOARD

Property Owners Can Not Remonstrate Until the Plans are Filed.

The fact that the Wabash Railroad company has not submitted revised plans for track elevation caused another delay in the proceedings today when it became necessary for the board of public works to give the property owners until Wednesday of next week to file their remonstrances against the separation of grades at the Calhoun street crossing.

Engineer Frank Randall was called upon to explain his plans to the property owners but he stated at the outset that if the Wabash road makes any changes the plans he had on hand will be no good and at this point Attorney W. P. Breen, who was there in the interest of the Kerr Murray foundry asked for time to look fully into the matter.

Mr. Randall stated that the present plans provide for a 64 foot subway with the sidewalks five feet above the roadway and that if this is maintained the Beverforden drug store will be three steps above the present sidewalk. This will necessitate the lowering of the sewer five feet from Baker street to a point south of the tracks.

In event, however, that the Wabash company should provide for building the superstructure to the south line of its right of way which is twenty-four feet south of the present tracks it will be able to extend the approach to the tunnel further south and make it deeper in front of the property on South Calhoun street. The grades will extend under the present plans from Railroad street to a point 25 feet north of the alley north of the Calderwood hotel.

Chairman Lennon told the property owners that there is no desire on the part of the city to take any advantage and that such modifications will be made as will inflict the least possible damage. These plans include the lowering of Grand street for 100 feet west of Calhoun with a 4 per cent. grade.

The proposition was discussed at some length by the board and the owners of the real estate who were in attendance but no definie action was taken and none can be until the revised plans are forthcoming. There were in attendance Thomas McKiernan, George Esmond, H. F. Beverforden, Frank P. Witt and others. Judge R. B. Dreibelbiss was there in the interests of the Kalbacher estate which is being looked after by Mr. McKiernan.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

IN THE THEATERS

People who go to the Majestic this week certainly will have no difficulty in getting their money's worth, for not only is the play out of the usual, but the specialties between acts are so good they are well worth a visit to see and hear.

The play which the stock company, with its new members, is putting on is "Captain Swift," by C. Hadden Chambers. It is on the order of a melodrama, yet is superior to the commonly accepted entertainments of that class. There is a villain, but he is not of the bloodthirsty kind who plots and schemes to abduct or destroy either the hero or heroine. To the contrary he is quite a likeable fellow, whose wrongdoing has been partly a result of an unhappy and unfortunate environment of youth and early manhood. Mr. Nicholson, who enacts the role, has excellent opportunity to make "Captain Swift" a man to be admired rather than distrusted, so that even in the end the sympathy of the audience is wholly with him. Mr. Nicholson plays the part with evident appreciation of the fine shading possible in the character and his work in the closing act is very effective and touching. The play is something of a surprise all the way through, though its development is not unnatural. Mr. Brickert has the hero role, a part in this play well fitted to make a "matinee idol" of one capable of playing the part with as much satisfaction as Mr. Brickert does, and his work throughout is decidedly pleasing and takes immensely with the audience. Mr. Preston, a new member, has not a part of prominence, but his work is such as makes one desire to see him again. Miss Dickson, another new member, has a pretty, rather fetching part which served to show her pretty voice and manner and adaptability to light roles. Mr. Knorr had a double role, which he carried off easily and effectively. Others of the cast were Miss Dunbar, Miss Dorset, Miss Gillingwater and Mr. Hayden, and there was evident purpose on the part of all to be free from mannerisms and impart to their work originality and new vigor. The result was immensely satisfactory. The play was extremely interesting throughout and much of its success was due to the efforts of the company in presenting it. The setting is adequate and very pretty. The specialties by Frank Jones and Charles Hasty and the motion pictures proved tiptop entertainment for between acts. The play will be produced all the week and will be well attended for its many attractive and entertaining features.

DeWolf Hopper.

Great are the promised features that will attend the forthcoming appearance in this city of our old footlight friend, DeWolf Hopper, when the tall comedian will begin his engagement at the Majestic April 1 in the latest of his series of fantastic characters, the "Pied Piper of Hamelin," in the new fantasy from the pen of Austin Strong, entitled "The Pied Piper." The Shuberts have surrounded Mr. Hopper with a strong company of singers and farceurs. The new play is in two acts and three scenes. The plot is not deep laid or complex, but is, nevertheless, interesting and consistent. It deals with the fate of the children of Hamelin after they were decoyed into the hole in the mountain three hundred years ago. The role of the rat-catcher should afford DeWolf Hopper exceptional opportunity for plying and applying his characteristic profession of humorist. According to his own account, it is one of the finest and funniest of the many characters in his repertoire. Of course the usual lavishness of scenery and costumes that characterize all of the Shubert shows will be in evidence in the present instance.

* * *

"The Merry Widow."

The scenery and light effects of Mr. Henry W. Savage's original production of the Viennese operetta, "The Merry Widow," that is soon to be seen here, are said to be the very last word in stagecraft in an American operetic production. The costumes were all made in Paris, as well as the wonderful hats which are now as famous in the millinery world as the Lehar score is in the musical world.

At the Lyric Theater.

Much interest is being taken in the grand cake walking contest to take place at the Lyric theater tomorrow night. Manager Hartmann is giving the public the greatest value for five cents that could possibly be expected, in fact it is remarkable to think that a full one and one-half hours' amusement costs but a nickle. The new $500 Victor Aux-E-To-Phone, furnished by the Fort Wayne Phonograph Co., is a great improvement over the other machine and is worked by electricity, having a special attachment so that high class operatic records may be heard in all parts of the theater. Every Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday selections will be rendered by such artists as Caruso, Melba, Calve, Fames, Campanari, Shuman Heink and many others. If there are any special records that any of the Lyric patrons would like to hear Manager Hartmann will use every effort possible to secure same, as card to his office will surely be attended to.

A Mauve Easter Suit

WORN BY MISS ROLLINS OF HIPPODROME CO.

All the high class models in spring tailored wear show a small amount of ornamentation and the utmost elegance of line. This suit of pastel mauve broadcloth is typical of the best in the costumes of this kind. Skirt and coat both have long lines and the lapped seams and trimming of covered buttons add just enough decoration to give a rich effect. The hat is of white straw faced with black satin and edged with a narrow frill of white net. White lilac sprays and black velvet ribbon make a smart and becoming finish.

VOTE TO END STRIKE.

Paris, March 23.—At a mass meeting of six thousand of the striking government telegraph and postoffice employes today it was voted by an overwhelming majority to resume work. Only about two hundred of the men voted to continue the strike.

Sheep-shearing machines are now used extensively in Australia. In Tasmania they are just beginning to be used.

JUDGE RAISES BOND IN THE BECKES CASE

Continuance is Asked and Given by Court—The Other Cases.

When John Beckes, the saloonkeeper charged with permitting others than members of his family in his saloon, on the Bluffton road, on last Sunday, was arraigned in the city court today he asked a continuance until Friday and said he would have an attorney present to defend him.

"All right, we'll give you the continuance and the bond will be $100."

"Oh, I guess not," said Beckes, "I've already got $50 up here and you can't do that on me."

"Well, I want to be certain you'll be here," answered the judge.

"Oh, I'll be here all right, don't worry about that."

"Yes, I know you will," was the reply, "but the bond will be $100 and you can give it or not, just as you like."

This closed the incident and as soon as Beckes was told just where he stood with the court he took his seat and gave the additional bond after court adjourned. He will make a fight, as the jail sentence in the Schroeder case yesterday has him guessing a bit.

Chonne Took Continuance.

Jacob Chonne took a continuance when he was arraigned on a charge of petit larceny this morning and secured the services of Judge R. B. Dreibelbiss to defend him and the preliminary will be heard on Thursday. He was arrested as he was leaving the city last night with $17 in money belonging to Benny Dale and a watch the property of V. Whitehurst. Dale had followed him to the Pennsylvania station and Patrolman Elliott and Detective Campbell, of the railroad force, made the arrest.

Chonne, who is also known as Cohen, and who registered yesterday at the Anthony as L. LeMieux, persuaded Dale and Whitehurst, who are boys of about sixteen, to sign contracts to become cue boys with the "When Knighthood was in Flower" company, and demanded of each $17 to pay expenses for the first week and promised them weekly salaries of $18 and expenses. Dale also paid an employment agency $7.20 for putting him in communication with Chonne.

The company was to have arrived last night, but Dale kept his eye on Chonne, and when he left the hotel and went to the interurban station the lad was watching him. When he got to the Pennsylvania, after finding out he could not get out on a trolley car, he was arrested. He had a lot of stuff in his grips, but nothing by which he could be identified. He carried a hat box and a silk tie for state occasions. He was left with thirty-five cents after he had paid back the money obtained from Dale and had to get a refunder on his ticket to produce this much.

The Other Cases.

Franklin A. Reese and Arthur Alen were sent over fifteen days for vagrancy. Reese was trying to dispose of a diamond ring when he was arrested.

Roy Carson, charged with the theft of an overcoat from the local recruiting station, was held until Monday morning.

Fred Brashear, a tramp, who has been around town for several months, got $25 and costs for loitering.

William Johnson, a train climber, was held until Monday for investigation and August Broeger, his companion, was given an hour to get out of town.

The wire hairpin was first made in 1545, in England. Prior to that wooden skewers were used.

GROESCHOW GETS ON GROUND AND IS HOPEFUL

Says Team Looks Good to Him and Likes the Prospects.

Terre Haute, Ind., March 23.—Cuppy Groeschow, manager of the Tot team for the season of 1909, is on the ground and today he and several of the men who have arrived a bit early for regular reporting time are working out at the reconstructed park and he is very hopeful that he will be able to pull Terre Haute out of the rut and place the club in the running for the Central league pennant.

Charles Bemis, the big right-handed pitcher purchased from the Western league, came with the pilot. He is a powerful man and gives every indication of being a good man for the staff.

"Everything looks fine to me," said Groeschow, "and if the fans will only give me half a chance I will show them that I can put the club into the running. I know that I have some good men, and I don't see where any club has anything on us. Take this Bemis, for instance. His record shows him to be a good, reliable man, and one I pick to be up in the race for flinging honors this season.

"I am going to start right with the players. They must follow the straight and narrow path, as too many good clubs have lost for no other reason than that the members of the team could do as they pleased. There will be absolutely no carousing around, as long as I am in charge. Every man on the club must turn out for practice regularly.

"The battle is going to be faster than last year, but I firmly believe that we are better prepared than ever before. Look at our twirling staff! Where is there is a better one in the Central? If there is, I would like to know it. And here's a tip—I am not through by any means. I have lines out for several more tossers, who, if secured, will strengthen the club a whole lot. And I'm going to get some of them, too.

"President Smith has told me to go ahead and get all the men I want, and following out this advice, I am leaving nothing undone that might hinder me from putting the Tots in the fight. The fans of Terre Haute want and deserve a first-class team, and I give them my word that I will do all in my power to give it to them."

Bemis gave every indication of being pleased with Terre Haute and expressed a desire to get down to work at once.

"Say, but I am anxious to get out and toss the ball around," were his words. "It's been so cold up home that we have had no chance to get out. When the manager and I left Sunday morning there was snow on the ground, and little did we dream that the weather would be so nice here.

"Terre Haute fans can also take it from me that we have a first-class leader this year. I know, for I have followed his career, and I know that he's a good man to have at the head of any club.

"He knows the game thoroughly, can play it himself, and if the fans give him the proper support you can look for a team well up before the flag falls. As far as I am concerned, I am fit as a fiddle. I'm feeling fine, seldom better, and with a few days of pleasant weather I am sure that I can round into shape all O. K. I am glad of the chance to play with the Terre Haute club and will do my best to deliver."

When Groeschow drifted into Smith's he found a letter from Collins stating that he was ready to come north whenever the club wanted him. He said that he had been at Washington, D. C., all winter, and had just looked over his contract for 1909, which was satisfactory to him.

Harry Allemang also wrote the management from Pomeroy, O., stating that he was in good shape and ready to come at once. He stated that he had been practicing every day and that his arm was in splendid condition. He was sent final word to report not later than Thursday.

Herbert Smith, the fast New York outfielder, was the third aspirant to shoot in a message, wanting to know when to show up. He stated, incidentally, that he was in fine form, the result of a few weeks of southern spring training.

FRENCH WILL STICK.

Positive announcement comes from Manager Fred Lake of the Boston American club in training at Hot Springs, that Charley French, drafted from the Evansville champions last fall, has shown up well enough to stick in Beantown society. It all means that French has made good in the big league after about ten days' workout among a field of major league ball players, whose worth was demonstrated last season or even before that.

A RELIGIOUS AUTHOR'S STATEMENT.

Rev. Joseph H. Fesperman, Salisbury, N. C., who is the author of several books, writes: "For several years I was afflicted with kidney trouble and last winter I was suddenly stricken with a severe pain in my kidneys and was confined to bed eight days unable to get up without assistance. My urine contained a thick white sediment and I passed same frequently day and night. I commenced taking Foley's Kidney Remedy and the pain gradually abated and finally ceased and my urine became normal. I cheerfully recommend Foley's Kidney Remedy." Dreier & Bro.

PATHFINDER ON ITS WAY.

Car That Will Blaze Route Has Started on Trip.

The Pathfinder car, which is to blaze a route for the cars to start in the June contest from New York to Seattle, left the city hall, New York, at noon today. Lyman W. Redington carried a letter from Mayor McClellan to the mayor of Seattle, embodying words of hope for the success of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition, which begins there June 1.

On that day President Taft will press a button in Washington to start the machinery of the exposition, and at the same time Mayor McClellan will start the automobiles in the contest from New York to the exposition.

The pathfinder car which left today will lay out the route for the contest. In the car were Redington, Eaton, Ell and George Miller, who was mechanic in the car which won the New York to Paris race. He is driving the present car. The pathfinder is expected to reach Seattle in forty days.

KETCHEL SLOW WITH CASH AND LOSES CHANCE

Did Not Cover Forfeit and Johnson Will Not Meet Him.

Chicago, Ill., March 23.—Jack Johnson will not box Stanley Ketchel. This was the positive information received by Willis Britt, manager of Ketchel, when he reached town yesterday after a journey from New York to arrange matters.

Just as Britt reached here Promoter McIntosh departed in the opposite direction, heading for New York, where he hopes to get the signature of Jeffries for a bout with Johnson. McIntosh left at 2:45 p. m. over the Pennsylvania Limited, so Britt was not able to make any arrangements with him relative to sending Ketchel to Australia next August.

Johnson and Britt met at the Trocadero theater last night and a lengthy argument took place, although most of it was done by Britt. Johnson was imperturbable.

"Ketchel didn't cover my forfeit as he promised," he said. "I want some guarantee in my battles. But I tell you what I'll do. I'll put up the $5,000 as a side bet that Sam Langford can whip him if you do the same."

Britt argued in vain. Johnson has more than hinted that he thinks Ketchel is trying to use him for advertising purposes and says that if he had been acting in good faith he would have complied with his original promise.

"I am not trying to arrange any Ketchel and Langford bout," he said. "I simply say I am willing to back Sam if they are matched."

Johnson and a party of friends attended the moving pictures at the Auditorium last evening, but departed early. He was applauded by the crowd when he appeared in a box. Battling Nelson was also on hand.

GANZEL AFTER WACKER.

Rochester Pitcher Expects to Land Evansville Left-Hander.

News from the Reds' training camp is to the effect that Jimmy Wacker will probably not make the pitching staff this season as some of the other youngsters are showing in better form than he in the early workouts. In event he is not retained it is likely that John Ganzel, manager of the Rochester Eastern league team, will get him.

WANTS TO MAKE TRADE.

Lew Drill, manager of the Terre Haute club last season, would resort to a queer manipulation to free himself from the Tot team. He wants to trade a pitcher for himself.

When Drill was purchased from St. Paul by the Tots for $750 it was with the understanding that Drill could buy his own release for that amount at any time.

Drill has found a pitcher in Pennsylvania and he wants to trade the heaver for himself instead of giving the Tot management $750. The proposition probably will be turned down, for Owner Louie Smith has been unable to find anyone who will tout the heaver as Central league caliber.

CURE DEFEATS DEMAREST.

New York, March 23.—Louis Cure, of France, last night defeated Calvin Demarest, of Chicago, in the first game of the world's 18.2 championship billiard tourney at Madison Square Garden. The score at the close was 500 to 369.

The Frenchman was Demarest's master at all stages, rattling off a run of 150 points in the tenth inning. The Chicagoan opened badly and was unable to get the balls together until toward the close. He amassed ninety-four in the fourteenth inning by beautiful billiards, but he had no chance to catch up with the Parisian.

KELLY LED BOWLERS AT PITTSBURG MEET

Got $35 in Singles and Split Prize With Will Doehrman.

John Kelly led the Fort Wayne bowlers at the Pittsburg tournament and through Ora Tonkel, manager of the Elks' team, he received a check today for $35 in payment of his prize in the singles and in addition he will split a check of $25 with Will Doehrmann, who was his partner in the doubles. J. F. Garrett got $8 and E. B. Williamson $7, making a total of $75 for Fort Wayne.

Compared with last season the showing is a poor one and not more than a third of the money was won this season that was taken off last year as Fred Kaufman and A. W. Sander picked off one prize of $110 and one of the five-men teams finished inside the money. Conditions were unfavorable for the bowlers from Fort Wayne.

In the first place the enthusiasm that marked the game a year ago is absent on account of changed conditions and it was impossible to secure the most experienced men in the city to go to the meeting because of the great expense attached to making a trip to Pittsburg. Last year there was a more generous response to a call for funds to lighten the burdens of the players and with another unfavorable winter it is likely that Fort Wayne will not be represented at all next spring at Detroit.

John Kelly, the leader of the local squad, is one of the oldest bowlers in the game, having begun in the old Library hall alleys where he made a showing and afterwards he joined the Pioneers when the first city league was organized. He led the men for the season in percentage and has always been a consistent performer.

Will Doehrmann, his partner in the doubles, was a winner at Cincinnati last season and has a good record on the alleys. He is also a consistent pin knight and has kept well up in the running in all the leagues of which he has been a member. Garrett is a new man among the bowlers and Williamson came here last season to take charge of the score card at the baseball park.

STORY CORNER FOR BASEBALL FANS.

Triple plays unassisted are seldom seen. Often players have chances to pull off this stunt and only fail because they fail to grasp an opportunity.

Terry Turner, the Naps' shortstop, had a nice chance to get away with a play of this kind in a game the Cleveland club was playing in Washington a few seasons ago.

"Dusty" Rhoades was on the mound for the Naps this day and the Nationals got to him in the first inning. The first man walked, the second singled, advancing the runner a base, and the third beat out an intended sacrifice, filling the bases with none out.

Lave Cross, who was next at bat, hit the second ball "Dusty" pitched on a line between Turner and second base, and when the ball left the bat it looked like a hundred dollars to a plugged nickel it would be a base hit.

All three base runners started with the crack of the bat and were under full headway when Turner made one of his characteristic plays. He scooted across the turf at breakneck speed and while on the dead run grabbed the ball in his gloved hand, not over two inches from the ground.

As he was going towards second base to make the catch it was a simple matter for him to step on the bag, completing a double play. All that would have been necessary for him to do to get the triple unassisted was to have touched the runner coming from first, who saw there was no chance for him to get back, and had almost stopped right in front of Turner.

Turner was too anxious, however, to retire the side, and before he realized what a golden opportunity he had to get his man, tossed the ball to first.

The pitching of no-hit games by any pitcher is a rare thing, and one which any twirler may well be proud of. At the same time the box artist who performs this feat is simply plastered with horseshoe luck.

To go through nine innings without a member of the opposition being able to hit one "where they ain't," certainly carries something with it besides mere ability on the part of the pitcher.

In games of this kind the pitcher must be favored with great support by his teammates. Nine times out of ten it is really their wonderful work which makes it possible for him to achieve such a feat.

How many times during the season does one see a twirler go along for seven or eight innings without the semblance of a hit being made against him? When everyone in the stands has settled back with the expectation of seeing the box artist accomplish the feat, somebody will swing wild on one and pop a little "Texas leaguer" over the head of one of the infielders.

No doubt many times during the game someone has hit the ball a good deal harder than did the man who made the hit, only to be unfortunate enough to have it go directly into the waiting hands of a fielder.

Without trying to take any credit from the pitcher who has been fortunate enough to go through a game without anyone making a hit against him, the fact remains that it takes considerable luck to get away with a game of this kind.

Can anyone imagine a pitcher going through nine innings without a hit being made off him and still lose the contest? That is what happened to "Dusty" Rhoades in an exhibition contest in Albany, N. Y., a few seasons ago.

Rhoades lost his game 1 to 0. He walked a man to start the sixth inning. The base runner was sacrificed to second and immediately stole third, by the grace of a bad decision by the umpire. He scored a moment later on a long fly to left field.

FAST BALL WILL BE SEEN IN CENTRAL IN 1909

Players are Reporting and Inside Ball Will be Taught.

The quality of baseball to be played in the Central league promises to be the best the patrons has ever seen as all of the clubs have been spending money during the winter and more good players have been drafted and purchased than at any time in the history of the organization. As a matter of fact the buying of players has hardly started as every manager on the circuit is up on his toes watching the majors for the discards and as these will come high where no options can be given it is probable that a nice little wad will be cut loose yet before the opening games are played.

Claude H. Varnell has probably spent more money in this direction than any of the other owners as he purchased Jack Henry for not less than $750, paid $800 for Frankie Donahue, $750 for Lindsay, $750 for Elston, $750 for Harry Corns and $300 for Pete King. This represents an investment of over $4,000 and does not include all the money that has been paid out for playing talent.

If Donahue fails to report he will buy an infielder and a good outfielder is practically certain to be purchased and this will necessitate another big outlay. This year the outlay will be in cash and no checks or stage money will pass current. No player can be brought into the league with a string of any kind tied to him and it will cost more to get them under straight purchases than through option deals.

The league is filled with good managers and the teams will be trained scientifically on inside ball, which makes the game the greatest on earth as this is the secret of its success. There will be no happy-go-lucky style in any of the clubs and as soon as the men get on the field their ability to use their brains will be taken into account along with their prowess with their arms and legs and the quick thinking youngsters will get the vacant places. This applies all over the league. The Zanesville Record-Herald says:

"From the advance dope and little talk with Montgomery, there is going to be a bunch of surprises sprung on every team that the Babes stack up against. The hit-and-run, bunt-and-run, squeeze play, double steal, and a bunch of other plays will be mixed up with playing it straight, so that the opposition will be kept guessing all the time. The bunt-and-run stuff isn't so old as some of the others, but seems to be gaining in popularity all the time. Clubs have been so accustomed to the bunt with one on and two out that a good part of the time the man is caught at second. With the bases full and a run there isn't a chance to nail the runner, and with the third baseman coming in for the bunt there is a chance for the base runner, if he is speedy, to get to the third tablet on the put-out at first. Montgomery likes this style of play, as the opposition players of the infield are all on the move, the third baseman, pitcher and first baseman coming in after the bunt, the second baseman to first, and the shortstop to second base. Thus the entire infield is on the hop when the ball is "laid down" and any little variation from playing it straight "crosses" the team in the field and turns many a extra base."

From the Evansville Courier comes the following:

"Unless some high-class dope goes wrong, this season's Evas will be trained better in inside baseball and team work than any team that has ever represented the city. Chief Puncher Knoll has sent out the word that inside tactics and the like will be given a deal of attention in the training season.

"With the lineup of the team quite as well as settled, Knoll has little else to do but drill his men in team work. If he carries out his ambitions in this phase of the game the 1909 Evas will be the best moving piece of machinery that ever represented Evansville."

HUBBARD IS APPOINTED.

Former Secretary Will Have Position Again This Year.

Sid Hubbard, who served as secretary last season of the Fort Wayne Baseball club, was today notified by Claude H. Varnell that he has been again selected for the place and to be ready to resume his duties within a short time. He will again look after the financial end of the club's business and will be in the box office at the park and will accompany the club on the road.

Court of Honor No. 242 will hereafter meet every Wednesday evening at Vordermark's hall.

I Cure Pelvic, Nervous and Chronic Diseases

REDUCED FEES—For the purpose of demonstrating to the public the rapidity of the cures I make and to enable those sufferers who are anxious to regain their health before the warm, spring weather, I will make a GREATLY REDUCED FEE in all cases I accept for treatment from now until APRIL 1.

SCIENTIFIC AND THOROUGH EXAMINATION—I have made it a point never to treat any case until I had made a careful and thorough examination and definitely located the cause of the trouble. This takes time, care and a complete and scientific knowledge of the parts affected both in health and in diseases. The human body is a most complicated piece of mechanism. In fact so complicated that it is impossible for any one person to thoroughly understand its normal or healthy condition. How much more impossible then, would it be to understand all the diseased conditions that may arise?

Knowing as I do the absolute futility of attempting to successfully treat every disease, I have limited my study to PELVIC, CHRONIC AND NERVOUS DISEASES, and my many years of experience in their treatment have enabled me to perfect methods which will positively and permanently restore to perfect health nearly all these conditions in which the ordinary methods have failed.

NERVOUS BREAKDOWN and nearly all nervous diseases are the direct result of chronic or imperfectly treated PELVIC DISEASES. By my special methods in the treatment of these diseases I not only remove every trace of the case itself but am able to restore to a normal and healthy conditions the broken-down and devitalized nervous system.

VARICOCELE, STRICTURE, RUPTURE, PILES, FISTULA, ETC., cured without knife and without detention from business.

BLOOD POISON—I use only the most advanced methods in the treatment of Blood poison and kindred diseases.

ECZEMA and other skin diseases quickly cured.

PROSTATIC ENLARGEMENT—This may result from a number of causes. The constant jarring and vibration of trains and trolley cars are a very potent cause. Bicycle riding and the use of riding implements on the farm are factors in producing this disease. In fact the causes are so many and varied that fully 75 per cent of all adults are afflicted to a greater or less extent by this disease. The disease is so little understood, and as one of the principal symptoms is a pain in the back, it is usually called kidney trouble and treated with local applications or sedatives which can do no possible good whatever. I reduce the enlargement and have been able to cure about 90 per cent of all cases.

WILL MAKE COST OF LIVING STILL HIGHER

Democrats in Congress Assail New Payne Tariff Measure.

Washington, March 23.—That the Payne tariff bill will increase the cost of living; that it is crude, indefinite, sectional and prohibitive, and that it is an open challenge to a trade war with every other nation on earth, are some of the criticisms of that measure made by the democratic members of the ways and means committee in the minority report submitted to the house by Minority Leader Champ Clark yesterday.

The report is a severe arraignment of the revision which the Payne bill proposes. The countervailing duty provisions for coffee and petroleum, the maximum and minimum features, the Cuban reciprocity clause, the woolen, glass, agricultural and sugar schedules are bitterly attacked.

"There are many changes—for the most part minor changes," says the report, "of the Dingley rates, some up and some down. Most of the changes in a downward direction are reductions more apparent than real, the Payne rates being as prohibitive in their results in many cases as the Dingley rates. In some of the schedules containing the most exorbitant rates there are no changes giving any appreciable relief to the great body of consumers."

Declare for Cut in Expenditures.

Declaring that a tariff is a tax paid by the consumer and that the only function of a tariff law is to raise revenue to supply the needs of the government the minority members of the committee insist that instead of an increase of taxes or a new issue of bonds the correct remedy for the growing deficiency in the revenue is the cutting down of the expenses of running the government.

Continuing the criticism of the Payne bill the report declares: "The whole maximum and minimum tariff scheme as set forth in the Payne bill enables foreign countries to force us to raise the rates of the Payne schedules 20 per cent., which would, after making ample allowance for all reductions in the Payne bill, increase our tariff rates on the average much above the rates of the Dingley law, a prospect which will bring sorrow and dismay to the great body of the people.

"Seeking Trade With an Ax."

"We are most heartily in favor of such a maximum and minimum tariff as will enable our government to negotiate tariff arrangements by making concessions to other governments by reducing the rates of our statute when such other countries will make equally valuable concessions to us; the maximum rates should be the rates of our statutes whatever they are, and the minimum a reasonable rate below our statutory rates; but as it stands, the maximum and minimum tariff plan of the Payne bill is an open challenge to a trade war with every other nation on earth. It is seeking trade with a club or meat ax. We are opposed to such an unwise and unnecessary performance.

"In this connection it may be well to ponder thoroughly our relations with Cuba. Does any sane man suppose for one moment that the great commercial nations, our competitors for the world's trade, will concede that Cuba is one of our 'dependencies?' It is a thing incredible. To ask that question is to answer it.

"The bill is in many respects crude, indefinite, sectional and prohibitive. It seems to us from our examination, which was necessarily hasty, that on the whole it increases the cost of living. For example it will increase the price of hosiery about 3 per cent., and certainly nobody will claim that hosiery is a luxury in this day and generation. In numerous instances the protection exceeds the entire labor cost of production."

Says Burden Falls on Laborer.

The report maintains that the tariff arrangements with the Philippines should be considered in a separate measure and not in a general tariff bill. The assertion that the bill is a sectional one, made by the democratic members of the committee, is based largely on the cotton schedule. The report contends that the bill does not lift any burden from the shoulders of the southern farmer, although the manufacturer of cotton goods is protected by a heavy tax, it claims.

"The treatment of the farmer by this bill is along the same lines as have characterized republican methods in the past," says the report. "He gets practically no relief and the laborer and producer have greater burdens imposed upon them. Every article of food the laborer must have to live comfortably is heavily taxed; even the salt on his table is not exempt. This schedule (agricultural products) was evidently prepared by the same mind which has dominated this bill—a mind certainly not unfair to the great trusts.

V. D. Snarr and family Sundayed in the home of George Deel and family.

Mrs. S. J. Snider and Mrs. Dessie Maybee, of Fort Wayne, visited in the home of the former's sister, Mr. and Mrs. Simon Somers, Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Will Dalman and Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Snider were Sunday guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Somers.

Rev. J. S. Newcombe preached a very effective temperance sermon in the M. E. church Sunday morning from the next Sunday's Sunday school lesson. He very clearly demonstrated that the licensed saloon evil is the paramount issue that confronts us as a Christian nation. The only permanent remedy for this, the worst of all existing evils, is absolute elimination; that compromise measures are practically failures, as it was in the slave trade evil before the civil war.

Everything in Our Store Marked Down From 10 to 50 per cent.

LOOK FOR THE DISCOUNT TAGS

In this, our INCORPORATION ANNIVERSARY SALE, we have adopted a color scheme. The discount tags are of different colors. Furniture, Rugs, Stoves, etc., on which there is a 10 per cent discount, are marked with Green tags. Those pieces on which 15 per cent discount is given are marked with Yellow tags; the 20 per cent Blue; the 25 per cent Lilac; the 33 1-3 per cent Salmon, and the 50 per cent White. The regular price tickets, marked in plain figures, are left on the articles, so that anyone can see at a glance the regular price and the discount sale price without the assistance of a clerk.

This Great Sacrifice Sale

THE SHOP AND RAILROAD NEWS

YARD FOREMEN'S MEETING.

Come Together to Exchange Notes About Work.

In the office of Chief Car Inspector Adam LaMar, of the Pennsylvania, some of the yard foremen from this and other terminals are gathered to discuss job card sheets for car cleaning and other matters connected with passenger car terminal work. Mr. LaMar is presiding at the meeting and the others in attendance are J. A. Graham, Fort Wayne; W. P. Russell; Twelfth street yards, Chicago; G. M. Bunting, East Pier yards, Cleveland, and A. L. Spangler, Federal street yards, Allegheny. The meeting may be continued over until tomorrow. The meeting of the boiler foremen in T. R. Cook's office, mentioned by the Sentinel yesterday, was continued today.

TALKED TO THE SHOPMEN.

A. L. Hadley Addresses Them On Interesting Subject.

The meeting of the Electrotechnic club at the 'Lights last night was for the purpose of giving the men employed there an opportunity to hear the first of a series of three lectures to be given especially for their benefit. A. L. Hadley was the speaker and he took for his subject dynamos and generators, giving stereopticon illustrations as he described the various machines manufactured by the Fort Wayne Electric works during the past two years. He also referred to lamps, both arc and incandescent, speaking in particular of the new magnetite arc lamp Mr. Wood has brought out and made ready for the market and which was described in these columns yesterday. The lecture was exceedingly interesting and instructive. It will be followed by two others especially gotten up for the education of the employes at the works.

FEICK REPORTS TO TRAINMEN.

Statement Covering Legislative Matters Now Out.

Fred L. Feick, of Garrett, Ind., chairman of the Indiana state legislative board of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, is today mailing to members of the brotherhood the report of the board. The board has completed a "red book" containing the record of its work during the recent session and a blacklist of legislators unfriendly to organized labor, but not a democrat is on the list. Feick's statements are just the opposite of those of Edgar A. Perkins, president of the State Federation of Labor, who is denouncing the democratic party, and predicting that democracy never again will be supported by the union men. That no other general assembly ever showed more friendship to organized labor is Feick's statement.

LOPPED OFF AN HOUR.

Working Hours Slightly Reduced at Shops.

Every department of the Pennsylvania shops sustained a reduction of working hours yesterday. Under the new schedule the employes in the erecting and machine shop will work fifty hours per week, the car shop men forty hours and the laborers fifty-five hours. This is a reduction of five hours per week on all. This schedule may not continue after March, the feeling that full time will rule after April first being general.

NEW LABOR ORGANIZATION.

Building Trades to Be More Thoroughly Unionized.

At the meeting of the Fort Wayne Federation of Labor last night, John C. Werkman and Henry C. Hoeltje volunteered to act as the charter members of a Building Trade's division of the federation, the purpose of which shall be to bring the members of the Building Trades' unions into a closer alliance. There are nine building trades represented in this city and as each one shall be entitled to five representatives in the division, it is very likely to become an influential factor in federation work. Such divisions have been formed in many cities in the country with much success.

BOWSER MEN AT BANQUET.

Combine Business and Pleasure at Wayne Club.

Twenty-five men representing the heads of the departments in the office and factory of S. F. Bowser & Company were the guests of the higher officials at a 7 o'clock dinner at the Wayne club last evening. After the banquet a business session which was presided over by A. Z. Polhamus, took place in the club parlors, the subject of discussion being ways and means of advancing the business interests of the company. President S. F. Bowser, Vice President A. A. Bowser and Secretary S. B. Bechtel were present and participated in the discussions.

MR. WILT AT HOME.

W. L. Wilt, of the Pennsylvania, who was operated upon at the Hope hospital two or three weeks ago for appendicitis, was taken to his home on Douglas avenue yesterday. He is making rapid progress towards recovery and will soon be at his office.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

Master Mechanic G. W. Smith is in Detroit today in the interest of the Wabash.

Charles Ashton, of the Nickel Plate round house, is off duty on account of sickness.

George Betz, of the packing department at the Electric works, is sick and off duty.

Foreman Joseph Slater, of the Bass smith shop, is in Bay City, Mich., on business for the company.

Wilber T. Marks and Charles Simons, machinists, resigned positions at the Pennsylvania shops this morning.

F. H. Hildebrand, who had been sick a few days, resumed his duties at the Bass blacksmith shop this morning.

Machinist C. Wright resigned a position at the Pennsylvania erecting shop this morning, after working there about four months.

Boilermaker Thomas Goudy, of the Bass shops, is in Eaton, Ind., repairing the boilers in the power plant of a paper company.

Nickel Plate Brakeman H. Holzworth has gone to Norwalk, Ohio, to spend a few days with his sister, who resides in that city.

I. A. W. Crandal, a flue maker, employed at the Wabash shops for some time, took a position at the Pennsylvania shops this morning.

Engineer and Mrs. M. J. McCarthy will leave the latter part of the week for West Baden Springs to remain a week and possibly longer.

Nickel Plate Brakeman B. H. Hire is off duty on account of sickness. Brakeman E. M. Holden is also off duty on account of sickness.

Boilermakers Charles F. Eickels and Ed. F. Seabold, of the Wabash, will go to Springfield Thursday to spend a few days with friends and relatives.

Stuart Rehrer, a foreman of one of the departments at the Fort Wayne Electric works, is at Columbia City, directing the repairs on an electric plant.

Engineer Tom Blakely, of the Wabash, has resumed his place at the throttle of a yard engine. Last January he fractured one of his arms in a fall from his engine.

Machinist J. L. Barry has returned from Marion, where he went a few days ago to visit friends, and this morning he resumed his duties in the Pennsylvania shops.

Machinist H. M. Pence, of the Wabash shops, is making preparations for a visit with relatives in Wapakoneta, Ohio, and will leave for that city this week.

Boilermaker Charles Cox, of the Wabash shops, will spend two or three weeks in St. Louis, going to that city in a few days. He will be accompanied by his wife.

After an absence of two weeks Nickel Plate Engineer John Hood has reported for duty. His baby, who had been very sick, is greatly improved and will soon be entirely well.

Engineer Joseph Harber resumed work on the Nickel Plate yesterday, after an absence on account of sickness of two weeks. Mrs. Harber has also been quite sick, but she is much better.

Motive Power Supt. T. W. Demarest and Clerk Percy F. Merritt left at noon today for Columbus, Ohio, where they will attend a meeting in the Pennsylvania offices tomorrow.

Henry Kemmeyer, for many years employed at the Nickel Plate round house, is enjoying a vacation, which he is spending with a married daughter in Kansas. Mr. Kemmeyer expects to be absent a week or two.

Machinist Fred Mailand, of the Pennsylvania shops, received news of the death of his brother's wife, who resided in Decatur, and he left last night for that city to attend the funeral.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Bower, of San Diego, Cal., are visiting William H. Bower, of Packard avenue. Mr. Bower was employed as a telegraph operator by the Wabash before he left this city for the Pacific coast country.

After a month's absence on account of a sprained ankle, Machinist J. O'Day resumed his old place in the Pennsylvania shops this morning. Machinist N. Criswell is also back in the shops, after a few days' illness.

Mrs. Trace Bauer, wife of the well known employe at the Electric works, is recovering from a severe illness and is now allowed to see callers. She is at the home of her month, Mrs. George Mong, on Spy Run avenue.

Foreman A. J. Morell, of the wheel department of the Pennsylvania erecting shop, had as guests over Sunday Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Rank, of Van Wert, the parents of Mrs. Morell. The visitors returned to their home yesterday.

G. J. Koelinger, John O. Bryant and C. F. Brown, Pennsylvania shopmen are off duty on account of sickness.

Boilermaker Fred Nahrwald, of the Pennsylvania, will be unable to work for a few days on account of a crushed finger.

William Graham, who had been ill a few days, resumed his place at the desk in the Pennsylvania motive power offices this morning. H. J. Loney, a stenographer in the office, is sick and off duty today.

Among the passengers on the Wabash train today was Mrs. Freda McBrien, who is en route to St. Petersburg, Fla., to join her husband and reside permanently. Mr. McBrien went there six months ago and is now established in a manufacturing business.

R. L. Hayzelett, a brakeman on a local freight running between Stony Island and Knox, has resumed that duty after an illness of ten days. A. O. Morehead, who worked on the local freight during the absence of Mr. Hayzelett, has returned to this city to report for work in the through freight service.

Machinist William Smith, of the Pennsylvania erecting shop, and his wife had a musical last evening in honor of Miss Rosa Gibson, of Poe, Ind., who is a guest at their home. The Hiker Brothers' orchestra took part in the program and contributed very materially to the enjoyment of all present.

Eugene E. Williams, of the Pennsylvania store room, was summoned to the bedside of his mother, Mrs. William Reiss, in Huntington, last night by a message saying that she was in a serious condition. Mr. Reiss also went down to Huntington to see his wife. Mrs. Reiss was taken ill while visiting in Huntington two weeks ago.

The passenger department of the Santa Fe has just issued two pretty pamphlets, which will be appreciated by people who contemplate a western trip. One contains numerous pictures and a description of the country through which Elks from the east will pass if they take the Santa Fe route when they go to Los Angeles to attend the grand lodge meeting in July. The other pamphlet is descriptive of a trip to Old Mexico over the Santa Fe route. It also contains numerous pictures of points of interest touched by the Santa Fe. Each book also gives a lot of information that will be found to be quite helpful to the tourist.

END OF A RED NOSE

New Flesh-Colored Product That Heals and Hides Skin Imperfections.

A peculiar feature of poslam, a new skin discovery, is that it is naturally flesh-colored and contains no grease, so that when used on the face for the complexion, or for pimples, red noses, or any other inflammations, blemishes, or discolorations, its presence cannot be detected. It can thus be applied in the daytime, the natural color of the skin being immediately restored and the actual healing and curing process accomplished in a few days. It can be had of any pharmacist who sells pure drugs. Meyer Brothers' Drug Stores make a specialty of it. Fifty cents worth will answer either for the troubles mentioned or in curing ordinary cases of eczema. Itching stops at once.

The Emergency Laboratories, No. 32 Wes Twenty-fifth Street, New York, are the sole dispensing agents for poslam in the United States, and will send an experimental quantity free by mail in plain wrapper to all who write for it. This will show results after an overnight application.

BEFORE THE DOCTORS.

The Question of Women's Rest Room Will Come Up Tonight.

Dr. J. C. Wallace, secretary of the Allen County Medical society, has been requested to bring up before the doctors at their meeting this evening the question of establishing a women's rest room in the court house. The petitioners are very desirous of obtaining the room on the southeast corner of the first floor now occupied by County School Superintendent Felger but it is not likely they will be given that room.

BANQUET FRIDAY EVENING.

The informal banquet for the life insurance men comprising the Northern Indiana Life Underwriters' association will be given on Friday evening, probably at the Wayne club. The program of speakers has not been completed.

Katherine Federspiel, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Federspiel, of New Haven, was brought to St. Joseph's hospital this morning to be operated upon for appendicitis.

By "FOOTLIGHTS"

Glau and his overweight chorus from the "Aeroplane" company have returned to New York in what may be described as greatly reduced circumstances. Not as to finances, let it be said, nor yet in numbers, glory be, but in avoirdupois—that is to say gross flesh. The entire galaxy has lost out in this respect, much to its advantage.

It seems the people out west will support slim ballerinos, and no other, and our famous "balloon chorus" carried, so to speak, no weight with them. They treated that prize collection of fat New York beauties with an unprecedented coldness. Consequently, Glau faced the problem of reducing the entire front and rear rows at once, or shipping them back—"excess" baggage. It was a terrific job, as all who saw the "Aeroplane" before it left this tolerant town will admit, but our ingenious townsman tackled it and succeeded—broke all records, in fact. And thereby hangs a tale worthy of any fat lady's attention.

Glau didn't rehearse his flock into shape, nor starve them into line, nor yet worry them, verbally, into shadows. He paid salaries regularly and let them eat and drink as they listed. He simply hung up a new rule in the dressing-rooms to the effect that every lady less than five foot seven who weighed in excess of 150 pounds must take a teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime (or about where her bedtime ought to be), of the following. One-half ounce Marmola, ½ ounce Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic, and 3½ ounces of Peppermint Water.

They did it and in a month averaged a loss of a pound a day apiece. "That's a dandy receipt," says Glau. "Simple, pleasant, harmless and a worker from the word 'go.' Wish I could get a railroad rate reducer half as good."

MARRIED WOMEN

Every woman covets a shapely figure, and many of them deplore the loss of their girlish forms after marriage. The bearing of children is often destructive to the other's shapeliness. All of this can be avoided by the use of Mother's Friend before baby comes, as this liniment prepares the body for the strain upon it, and preserves the symmetry of her form. Mother's Friend makes the danger of child-birth less, and carries her safely through this critical period. Thousands gratefully tell of the benefit and relief derived from the use of this remedy. Sold by druggists at $1.00 per bottle. Book mailed free to all expectant mothers.

MRS. NATION FLAYS OUR ENGLISH COUSINS

The Saloon Smasher, Home Again, Says Ministers Hold Brewery Shares.

New York, March 23.—Carrie Nation, who has been lecturing in advocacy of prohibition in Scotland and England, arrived last evening in the second cabin of the White Star liner Baltic with not a high regard for her fellow voyagers, a sentiment they reciprocated. She had conversational battles with many of the men and women, most of whom, she declared, were under the influence of drink.

Mrs. Nation for a time made things very disagreeable for her fellow passengers. They reported the facts to Captain Ranson, however, and for the remainder of the voyage there was less trouble as the result of a talk the captain had with her.

Mrs. Nation declared that her crusade in England had accomplished good.

"Nobody has an original thought in England," she said. "They let somebody do their thinking for them. That is the one great difference between an Englishman and an American. I never saw so many cowards. They are afraid to speak their convictions because they do not want to lose their meal tickets.

Says Pastors Like Breweries.

"Some of the ministers hold shares in breweries, and when a big brewer makes enough money he buys a peerage. I never saw so many men and women drunkards as I saw in London. Why, I saw women standing before bars, actually tipping their glasses to the lips of their babies. Something must be done in England, but they do not know how to do it. The lords won't do anything. You know what some of the lords are—a lord's son may be an idiot, but he will be a lord just the same."

Jack Binns, who has been acclaimed the hero of the spectacular wreck of the steamship Republic, was also a passenger on the Baltic. Binns, the wireless operator, has been on a vacation at his home in England, and now will resume his work at the key. He will be given a position in the Marconi company's office in this city, a much better position so far as emoluments go than that which he has heretofore held aboard ship.

SIMPLE REMEDY FOR LA GRIPPE.

La grippe coughs are dangerous as they frequently develop into pneumonia. A study of the trouser legs as seen in the photographs of our most noted men brings the smile of contempt from even the most disinterested, and one wonders if anything could be uglier than the concertina folds of the clumsy, elephantine outlines that are there to be seen. Breeches, knickers and kilts are all far more artistic and healthy.—Tailor and Cutter.

When to Use Dr. Williams' PINK PILLS

These pills were originally a prescription used in the doctor's private practice and their benefit to mankind has been increased many thousand fold by their being placed on general sale with the doctor's own directions for use. They are entirely safe and contain no opiates or other habit-forming drugs.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the remedy to use when the blood is thin as in anæmia; or impure, as in rheumatism; or when the nerves are weak, as in neuralgia; or lifeless, as in partial paralysis; or when the body as a whole is ill nourished, as in general debility. They build up the blood, strengthen the nerves and have cured troubles of women and growing girls and many forms of weakness. That hundreds of people have tried the treatment with good results is shown by the increasing number of cures reported.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes, $2.50 by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

STILL IN HOSPITAL.

J. W. Lane, who was the most severely injured of the victims of the Calhoun street crossing smash ten days ago, is still in the St. Joseph's hospital and though recovering very satisfactorily, it will be several weeks before he can leave that institution.

How can any person risk taking some unknown cough remedy when Foley's Honey and Tar costs them no more? It is a safe remedy, contains no harmful drugs and cures the most obstinate coughs and colds. Why experiment with your health? Insist upon having the genuine Foley's Honey and Tar. Dreier & Bro.

The west gallery in the Chickasha opera house sagged eight inches in a minstrel performance, but the show was so good that somebody ran out and got a few fence rails, propped up the gallery and the performance was continued.—Kansas City Times.

An Honest Medicine

That makes honest cures. Zemo guaranteed under the pure food and drugs law. Zemo has cured more cases of Eczema, Pimples, Dandruff, Piles, Tetter, Ringworm, Cuts, and Sores than any similar remedy ever placed on the market. Write for sample. E. W. Rose Med. Co., St. Louis. TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

What the Sentinel Had to Say About Persons and Events Twenty-Five Years Ago.

Justice Tom Wilkinson's term expires a month from today.

Up to date 1,122 water permits have been issued from the water works office.

Frank Falker is home from his first trip for A. C. Trentman. He sold a lot of groceries and likes the business.

City Treasurer Berghoff is taking in loads of money on city taxes. Mr. Berghoff speaks the English, German and French languages fluently, and is a good financier.

Dr. George W. Loag will not be a candidate for sheriff, but prefers to give his entire attention to dentistry, in which he has a practice extending all over northern Indiana.

D. N. Foster's Court street show windows present a magnificent appearance, and are by far the most attractive in the city. The display was made by that popular young gentleman, C. A. Schnieders, who is a master of art in his line.

This morning a rather ancient order was presented to City Treasurer Berghoff for payment. It called for $3.00 and was in favor of G. Rekers, who did election board work in May, 1867. Hon. E. L. Chittenden was clerk then and Ben H. Tower was mayor. Mr. Rekers yesterday discovered the order among his papers.

Messrs. Ed Ely and William Shoaff have finished their survey of Little river, and next summer the work of deepening that stream to drain the low land southwest of town will be commenced. The improvement will make dry and useful 60,000 acres of land now constantly under water. The job is a big one, but it will be a great benefit to Allen county.

City Assessor Jocquel has appointed his assistants. George W. Brackenridge and Jacob G. Goshorn will appraise real estate and improvements. David Comparet will dot down the personal property in the First and Second wards; Gart Shober will work the Third and Fourth; Fred Gable will assess the Fifth; Philip Keinz will manage the Sixth and George Fisher the Seventh. George J. Alter has the Eighth ward and W. F. Hilgeman the Ninth.

Would Pierpont Morgan Buy an Imitation? Would You?

THE FACTS, EASILY ACCESSIBLE, WILL PROVE BEYOND QUESTION THAT

THE MELVILLE CLARK 88 NOTE APOLLO PLAYER

Was the first 88 note player to be put on the market. For a space of time, BETWEEN SEVEN AND EIGHT YEARS, THE APOLLO was the ONLY 88 NOTE PLAYER IN EXISTENCE. While others were satisfied with the incomplete and therefore inartistic 65 note player, the MELVILLE CLARK PIANO CO. had a monopoly of the 88 note player for all these years, 1901-1909.

This company was the first absolutely to DEMONSTRATE THE COMMERCIAL AND ARTISTIC POSSIBILITIES OF THE 88 NOTE INSTRUMENT which plays the entire scale of a 7⅓ octave piano.

Every 88 note player other than the MELVILLE CLARK APOLLO IS AN IMITATION, A PARROT-LIKE COPY, A COUNTERFEIT OF THE ORIGINAL PRODUCT. No 88 note player piano is original unless the line MELVILLE CLARK PLAYER PIANO is placed on the Fallboard.

J. Pierpont Morgan pays fabulous prices for original paintings, but he would not consider the purchase of an imitation at any price. Why should you be satisfied with an imitation when you can buy the original?

THE APOLLO IS THE GREATEST PLAYER IN THE WORLD

The Melville Clark Apollo Piano Co. are the originators, the pioneers and logically the leaders in the 88 note player industry, BECAUSE they made and marketed the first 88 note player.

THE MARKETS

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago Market.

Chicago, Ill., March 23.—Despite liberal receipts in the northwest and favorable weather for the sown crop sentiment in the wheat pit today was rather bullish and prices were up about ½c compared with the previous close. The European visible supply of wheat was reported to be at a very low mark and this helped to strengthen the market here. Prices at the start were a shade to ½c higher. May being at $1.15½ to $1.15¾ and July at $1.03 to $1.03⅛@1.03¼. Later May sold at $1.16. July, after selling at $1.02⅞@1.03, advanced to $1.03¼.

The wheat market continued firm the entire day, crop damage reports from Missouri and Nebraska contributing some bullish sentiment. The high point for May was reached at $1.16⅞. July advanced to $1.03¾. The close was strong with May up ⅞@1c at $1.16⅛@1.16¼. July was up ¾@⅞c at $1.03¾.

Liberal receipts of corn offset a feeble revival in export demand and held the market for that grain steady early in the day. May opened a shade to ⅛@¼c higher at 66⅛c to 66⅜c and sold at 66⅛@66¼c.

Offerings were light all day and the corn market held strong. The top point for May was 66½c. The market closed firm with May up ¼c at 66⅜@66½c.

Oats were firm on buying of May by cash interests. That option opened unchanged to ⅛@¼c higher at 54c to54⅛@54⅜c and advanced to 54⅝@54⅝c.

A 5c to 15c advance in the price of live hogs caused firmness in provisions but the volume of trade was small. Prices at the start were 2½c to 7½c higher than the previous closing.

OIL.

Toledo Market.

Toledo, Ohio, March 23.—North Lima, $1.04; South Lima and Indiana, 98c.

STOCKS AND BONDS.

The Day on Wall Street.

New York, March 23.—Many stocks opened today at higher prices than last night without effect from the declines in the early London market. Other stocks were depressed a fraction. Changes were small in all cases and dealings were on only a moderate scale. Delaware & Hudson rose 1 point. Reading declined ⅜ point.

Improved prices were made all around, the market showing a brief period of strength and activity, followed by irregularity.

An interval of quiet brought about a rally of 1½ points in Interborough Metropolitan preferred, but when support was withdrawn the tractions fell lower than before. Brooklyn Transit showed relative firmness and the general market was also comparatively well held. International Mercantile Marine preferred and Pullman gained a point.

THE MONEY MARKET.

New York, March 23.—Money on call, steady, at 1¾@2%; ruling rate, 1¾%; closing bid, 1¾%; offered at 2%.

Time loans, firmer; sixty days, 2½%; ninety days, 2½@2¾%; six months, 3%.

Close: Prime mercantile paper, 3½@4%.

Sterling exchange, steady at decline, with actual business in bankers' bills at 486@486.10 for sixty day bills, and at 488.10 for demand.

Commercial bills, 485¾@485⅞.

Bar silver, 50%@Mexican dollars, 44.

Government bonds, steady; railroad bonds, steady.

Purchases of Union Pacific which advanced it to 181⅛, had a sustaining effect on the market for a while and caused a rally in the tractions. A further outbreak of liquidation in Third Avenue, which lowered it 5¾ points in 60 to 30, undermined the market afterwards and the tone became heavy. Erie first preferred yielded a point.

The market close dirregular. The persistent liquidation in local traction issues was of growing influence on investment and with the increased selling on advances, prompted a throwing over of stocks by the professionals. Third Avenue slumped 8 points and Interborough Metropolitan preferred 5⅝. The reaction was sharp and carried Peoples Gas 2⅝ below last night, Brooklyn Union Gas 2, Chesapeake & Ohio and Amalgamated Copper 1½, Great Northern preferred, American Smelting 1⅜. Short covering caused a numbe rof brisk rallies.

LOCAL MARKET EPITOME.

Fort Wayne local produce receipts today were a practical blank, buyers having but a few eggs against their heavy demands. The street price was 17c, while commission men buying the article in the country districts and paying for the shipping to this city, gave 16c per dozen. Good butter and chickens were in demand with the markets remaining firm.

Said G. H. Crouse, of the commission house of G. H. Crouse & Co., this morning: "We will have a light market tomorrow morning, with eggs going at 16½@17c per dozen and good butter at 25@26c per pound. The chicken market will remain steady."

Wheat took on another cent today and millers are offering $1.18 for the cereal. It is believed that the rise in the Chicago and Buffalo markets are due to stock manipulations. The high price does not, however, bring out much of the grain and the millers are of the belief that it is a scarce article in this vicinity.

No changes were recorded in the other local markets today.

Spring Is Here

So says the calendar, and the atmosphere of Spring fills the entire store. Wherever you turn bright new spring goods will greet you.

Are You Ready?

Nature will soon put on her spring dress. Better be ready to welcome the changing season with appropriate wearables. We can help you. Smart spring frocks and new outer garments are here, just as chic and modish as expert designers can make them; rich in style and quality and right in price.

Tailored suits, styles inspired in Paris and executed here; all the newest fabrics and shades; $13.50 to $75, with special values at

$20, $25 AND $30

Costumes in taffeta and messaline silk; very swell styles

$22.50 TO $80

Lingerie dresses in batistes and mulls, beautifully made and trimmed exquisitely with laces and embroidery

$7.50 TO $50

Lingerie waists and tailored waists, severely plain or as elaborate as you could wish for

$1.00 TO $18.50

Fancy spring jackets and coats, all the season's best styles

$6.50 TO $27.50

Stylish lace coats in white and ecru; not merely new but with an exclusive newness about them

$7.50 TO $40.00

Silk petticoats in all wanted shades and extra good values

$5.00 TO $25.00

The New Millinery

Every effort has been given to make our collection of spring millinery a criterion by which the season's style tendencies may be determined. Our opening days brought throngs of delighted admirers. We are now ready for business. Get the first fruits while they are ripe for the picking. Simplicity is certainly not the keynote for millinery this season. Some of the shapes are startling and quaint, but the trimmings and their application are wonderfully attractive; and best of all, prices are most reasonable.

CITY BREVITIES.

Thomas Craig, whose home is now in Warren, O., but who prior to two years ago was a resident of Aboite township, this county, is visiting with friends and relatives in and about the city.

Dr. S. D. Sledd, Dr. C. R. Dancer, Dr. G. W. McCaskey and Dr. H. K. Mouser are on the program for the regular meeting of the Allen County Medical society in the court house assembly room this evening.

A partial consignment of the structural steel for the building being erected by the Pidgeon Millinery company, and the Fort Wayne Drug company has arrived in the city but it will be several days before the excavation work is entirely completed.

Intending to hurry down stairs with a plant for the draymen who had been moving the furnishings from the rooms on East Main street, Monday afternoon, Mrs. Guy Emrick tripped on the top step and fell the entire length of the stairs, at the same time clasping the plant so closely to her that it was not broken, nor was Mrs. Emrick injured.

Mrs. Louise Michaels, living east of the city was thrown from her buggy on Harrison street in front of the Coverdale & Archer company grocery shortly before 6 o'clock last evening and though she alighted upon her head and shoulders, her injuries were found to be mainly bruises. The horse shied at an interurban car and swerved to the side, perciplitating Mrs. Michaels out of her rig.

"My three year old boy was badly constipated, had a high fever and was in an awful condition. I gave him two doses of Foley's Orino Laxative and the next morning the fever was gone and he was entirely well. Foley's Orino Laxative saved his life." A. Wolkush, Casimer, Wis. Dreier & Bro.

CITY BREVITIES.

Herman Ewiliden went to Hobart, Ind., today, in response to a message informing him of the death of his brother, Christopher Ewiliden.

H. A. Lantz has been given the contract for erecting a residence for Fred Kramer on Pleasant avenue. The plans were drawn by Architect J. M. E. Riedel.

W. J. Robinson, president of the Mexican Plantation and Colonization company, addressed a number of Allen county people in the court house assembly room last evening in an effort to interest them in settling in Mexico. A party of five hundred homeseekers from northern Indiana and Ohio will go to Florida next month and it is hoped to work up a similar party to go to Mexico.

WEIGH YOURSELF BEFORE USING

Weigh yourself before commencing to use Samose, the great flesh-forming food. The wonderful sale of this preparation since first introduced in Fort Wayne and the remarkable results following its use have made Meyer Bros. Co. such enthusiastic believers in the great value of Samose that they give their personal guarantee to refund the money if Samose will not make thin people fat and restore strength and health to those who use it.

This is a strong guarantee, but Meyer Bros. Co. have seen so many of their customers who a few weeks ago looked like walking skeletons become plump and well, solely through the use of Samose that they feel they cannot say too much to induce people to try it.

This marvelous flesh-forming food is assimilated as soon as it is taken into the stomach, makes good rich blood, tones up the weakened system, helps to assimilate the food and makes the user plump, well and rosy.

Our agents are instructed to refund the price if Samose does not give satisfaction. The Dr. Howard Co., Binghamton, N. Y. For sale by Meyer Bros. Co.

If its a good thing Seavey's have it

Whew!

Where does all that smoke come from? From the old-fashioned range, of course.

Why continue to have trouble with dirty, clogged flues? A gas range operates independent of flues.

There is no stovepipe to fall and cause an extra half hour of labor of the grimiest, filthiest kind.

Gas is not only cleaner but cheaper than any other fuel.

Our IDEAL is a gas range that meets every requirement of the most exacting cook. You never hear any complaint about an IDEAL Gas Range failing to do its duty. The price is right.
